An Act creating a Legislative Reference Bureau providing for the election of a Director by the General Assembly designating the officers and employees of such Bureau defining their duties fixing their salaries abolishing the present Legislative Reference Bureau and making an appropriation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, the bill under consideration as I understood it, provides for the continuance of the Legislative Reference Bureau as it now is. This Bureau has rendered a very efficient service to the Legislature; it has been managed by officers who have been capable and courteous, and have always kept the confidence of the members of this House. It therefore seems to be an almost unanimous desire, I take it, of the members of this House that the Bureau continue as it now is. I have heard it said that probably the Governor was opposed to this bill, and I am authorized to say that while another recommendation was made for the purpose of economy, yet it is entirely agreeable to the Governor if the Legislature desires to pass this bill for its own service, that it be passed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous to the insection of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1228, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 461), entitled "An Act to provide for the removal or retirement of judges of the Supreme, Superior, common pleas, orphans' municipal, and county court, permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their regular judicial functions or duties, and providing for the payment of compensation to them during the balance of the term for which they may have been elected, and, in certain cases, for the remainder of their lives after resignation or retirement, and for filling the vacancies caused thereby; providing for judges who have been retired or who may have retired or resigned under provisions of previous acts or otherwise; and repealing certain acts."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Wil the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Zook, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ZOOK. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Is not this bill a complete repeal of the judges retirement law?

Mr. ZOOK. It is.

Mr. SOWERS. Do you think it would be advisable to repeal this act and prevent the people of Pennsylvania from having a method of removing a judge who has become incompetent by reason of old age?

Mr. ZOOK. I do.

Mr. SOWERS. In other words, you think it would be better for us to lose our method of removing a judge who is incompetent?

Mr. ZOOK. Before 1921 we had gotten along a very long time without it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before you is a bill which provides for the absolute repeal of the act known as the judges retirement bill, or law. Now an erroneous impression has gone forth that this is a judges' pension law. The judges retirement law is not a pension bill, or a law, it is an act put on our statute books to enable the people of Pennsylvania to rid themselves of a judge who, by reason of age, becomes incompetent and unable to render to the people good service. The way the law works, or the law worked before this retirement law went into effect, the people elected a judge for ten years or they elected a judge for 20 years, and if the judge through some misfortune became incapable of performing the duties of his office, he just stayed in his home, warming his feet, and drew his salary and never attended Court, and the cases simply accumulated, one after the other, until the people were compelled to have another judge and to pay the salaries of two judges. Now which is the best policy for Pennsylvania to pursue? Is it the policy that we have been following for years? Is it the policy which we have been following for the last ten years, the procedure we have followed since the beginning of the Commonwealth, which was to elect a judge for a long term of years. And after he was elected, who could remove him? Who could tell him to go to court? Who could tell him to get to work? Who could tell him that he was not sick; that he had to stay there and hear cases? Not a soul. And that judge if he did not feel well stayed at home and did not work at all, and the people of Pennsylvania paid him a full salary. Then along came a modern thought, and that thought was the Judges Retirement Bill, and that thought was that if a judge is unable to perform the service of his office that it is better to retire him at one-half pay rather than to let him stay at home and draw full pay.

Now this bill, this repeal bill, which you are to vote on, is a bill to go back to the old system, and let the judge draw full pay.

I ask you to vote this bill down. I ask you to vote it down so that the people of Pennsylvania will not be burdened to pay the full salary of a judge when they can retire him under the present law at half pay. Which is cheaper? Which is the best policy?

My friend here on the right of me in the House, the other day said, "The true principle should be 'root hog or die'". That was his expression. Are you willing to apply a principle of that kind to the judiciary of this Commonwealth? Why, if you say to a judge, "root", whose pocket would be root in? He won't die, and if he does root, I hope he will root in the pocket of my friend who gave expression to such a thought.

The judiciary are in a peculiar position. They cannot engage in business; they cannot go out in the market and make money; they are compelled to live according to their position in life; they cannot go out into commerce; they cannot go out into commercial finance. They must stay on the bench and remain impartial, and if you don't provide for them in their old days, maybe they will then be compelled to root in the pockets of my friend, and maybe they will root in the pockets of the people. It is better to treat them fair and keep the judiciary on a high level, and keep it clean. Therefore, I ask you, men and women of this House, not to reverse the policy that this Commonwealth has adopted, and I ask you to defeat this bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ZOOK. Yes, sir.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, for information, I would like to ask how many judges there are on the pension at the present time, and what does it cost?

Mr. ZOOK. I think there about seven. I had the list but I gave it to another man. It cost $43,000 a year, and the Appropriation Committee has asked for $120,000 for the next biennium.

Mr. EDMONDS. May I ask the gentleman further, if this repealer goes through, what becomes of these gentlemen who are now receiving a pension. Does that stop then?

Mr. ZOOK. Absolutely.

Mr. EDMONDS. The thought in my mind, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is this: I realize the very great degree of dissatisfatcion with pension plans that we go into in a hurry without considering things, and it always seems that when we do go into one of them the very necessary result is that there is more or less of a contract, and the good faith of the State is involved.

If we were to establish a new system of pensions at the present time we might very appropriately consider a great many questions as to whether we wanted to embark on that, or having embarked on that, and securing the election of judges with the expectation that there would be this provision for their old age, and having provided for a certain number of them for a period of their old age, is it fair then to suspend the operation of the law and go back where we were in the beginning? It is from that point of view, it seems to me, that this legislation is undesirable. It might be desirable to work out some amendment to the plan, it may be desirable to work out some further checks to check the plan which has been existence for several years, under which a number of men have trusted in the good faith of the Commonwealth, but to wipe it out at once seems to me to be very drastic and unfair, and for that reason I join with my colleague from Philadelphia in opposing the bill.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as one who was here when this bill was passed, I felt then as I do now that we have passed no more ridiculous legislation in a number of years in Pennsylvania, than this act. We have heard of the lawyers who go on the bench as a matter of charity. We have heard the same thing of some fellows who became paupers on the bench. We have heard about the pension system. We have contradicted ourselves, year after year, on this measure. I do not believe that the honorable judge in Pennsylvania wants to be considered a pauper. I believe he is thoroughly capable of going out and making his own living, even though he is on the bench. I see no reason why we should keep on with a system that is wrong because we started it. We clamor for all kinds of taxes for schools and other purposes, yet here is $120,000 going for a purpose that nobody can justify. I believe in the eyes of the people of Pennsylvania it is ridiculous and outrageous, and we ought to repeal this act and be done with it. I believe the man on the bench even would like to have it repealed. Their election coming as it has in a period of years when the act was passed in many cases has been the cause of their defeat. I should like to appeal to every man in the House if we want to make a pension system, make it for the totally incapacitated and totally disabled, all people of that class, certainly not pick out a class on the bench and make them the subject to receive a pension in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened to the arguments of the gentlemen from Philadelphia with a great deal of interest, but I want to represent the rural districts of this great Commonwealth in answer to what they have said. I am well aware of the fact that the gentlemen coming from the larger cities of this Commonwealth look upon this measure from a different angle than do we of the country counties. It may be true that in one or two, or perhaps three, instances, in the great city of Philadelphia, they may have judges on the bench who might need this extra pay of one-half their salary, after they get off the bench. Perhaps it is true that many of these judges are men who could make a great deal more money off the bench than on the bench, because before they can be elected to the high office of judge in these large cities they must be men who can be qualified to have a large practice as lawyers. Therefore, there is no question about it but that some of these judges in our large cities make a sacrifice perhaps to go on the bench and serve as judges, so that the people in these cities look at this question perhaps from a different angle than we do in the country districts. You take the salary of the present judge in counties of the size of that one from which I come, the county of Huntingdon, and there are mighty few lawyers that make as much as the president judge, and therefore, as has been said before, the people of the rural districts are up in arms against this judges retirement measure, which has been on our statute books for a number of years. I feel, ladies and gentlemen of this House, that this measure should be repealed. This law should be repealed, as has been said by the sponsor of the bill in answer to the interrogations of the gentlemen from Philadelphia because it is a measure that never should have been put on our statute books, and the people are aroused. Take the judges of our Appelate Courts, Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, and think of the salaries that they are receiving today. The highest paid court in the United States is the Appelate Court of Pennsylvania, where their combined salaries amount to $235,000, per annum, higher than the supreme court of the United States, we pay our judges of the appellate court, and think of the salaries these judges in Philadelphia receive, $12,000.00. Now, as I say, that may seem like a small amount for a man in the city of Philadelphia, but when you take eight or nine thousand dollars out in one of our rural districts it is big pay and they are not expecting more. But the judges themselves are opposed to this measure in the rural districts. I hold in my hand a letter from my own president judge, whom we consider one of the best in this Commonwealth, saying that he is opposed to this measure, and he is supported in this by numerous other judges. Judge Bailey, in a letter to Senator Snyder of our district says this: "The country judges never wanted this pension. It is exceedingly unpopular with the people outside of the large cities, the people, whom, I may say, do their own thinking." Now, the people, as he says there in that letter, have been considering this question ever since this law has been on our statute books, and so I say, gentlemen, that this measure should pass. There is no question about it in my mind, and I trust that the members of the House will vote for the repeal of the Judges' Retirement Fund. You take the ministers of the gospel. What salaries do they receive in our great cities, and yet they have to live up to a standard, practically the same as your judges do. They don't receive but a mere pittance as a pension or a retirement allowance from some of their boards of ministerial relief in their old age, and yet they sacrifice their lives, as the gentlemen has said the judges do. They sacrifice everything. They can't educate their children any better than those judges, but they do it from a standpoint of loyalty to the church and to their country, and so, as I said before the committee on this measure, the old country doctor travels over the hills and the mountains of the Commonwealth in the various localities. He sacrifices his life; he has to pay for his education as a boy and he renders a great service to the people of his community. So, these judges should do likewise. There is an honor connected with the position which they hold. Long before this retirement act was passed, ladies and gentlemen of the House, we had such men on the bench of our Appellate Courts as Judge Gibson, and later on down as you all know from our own district judge Dean and men of that caliber. They never asked for, and I don't think they would have accepted a pension. This measure is one that the people of the State are aroused over, and I think rightly so, especially out in the rural districts, and I ask you members here who come from the rural districts to vote for the repeal of this measure, the Judges' Retirement Bill.

Mr. Sowers has called attention to the fact if a judge becomes incapacitated he can be retired. But I am gaing to call attention to this fact, that the judge serves for twenty years on the bench, and then he is retired on half pay. Now, what is the result in the rural districts? Take my own district as an illustration. Why, the people there are so opposed to this measure that if a judge comes up for reelection the second time, what happens? Why, they vote him out of office because, they say, if he is reelected a second time he will receive this pension, or so-called pension. Therefore, he is defeated and we are placed in the position, in the rural districts, of having to accept an inferior judge when we might have one of the best judges, now, in the State. And this is likewise true in every other district. The people are so opposed to it that they will vote a good judge out of office simply because he is going to get a pension at the end of his term, and then we have to accept an inferior judge. Now, these matters do not pertain alone to the cities, they pertain to our rural districts, and the members here should take that into consideration in voting upon this measure, and I hope that it will be supported by every member of this House.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs. Lucas, Haws, Harer, Horne, Fratt, Burd P. Evans, Dilsheimer, Burns, Colville, Conner, Heffernan, Mathay, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than 20 members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. Walker. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr Speaker, I should like to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain its purpose, and just what its effect will be in cities and counties of the first class, to which it refers.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I should be pleased to inform the gentleman who, not being from a city of the first class, does not fully understand the bill, how this bill does affect those who do come from a city of the first class. The only change that this bill makes in the existing law is that, in a city of the first class the coroner, upon receiving a dead body, may hold the same for seventy-two hours instead of thirty-six hours before turning it over to the Anatomical Board. Under the existing law, when a dead body is turned over to a coroner or to any other official having charge of the same, he is entitled to hold the same for thirty-six hours in an effort to locate the family or a fraternal organization, or any other body, whether it be an individual or an organization, who will bury the same. In the city of Philadelphia, with its complex machinery, the many police stations and the many other agencies to which they must apply, the various fraternal organizations and other bodies to which the coroner necessarily must apply in an attempt to secure word as to the identity of the person, it was found that seventy-two hours would be a fairer time in which to locate the families before turning the body over to the Anatomical Board. I find no fault with the Anatomical Board, which is doing a wonderful work, but in cities of the first class, it has been found that seventy-two hours would be a better time in which to locate the family before turning over the body for the purposes of dissection. I trust tnat the member is sufficiently enlightened.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—5.

Kohler,
Minehart,
Post,
Stevens, A. J.,
Wells,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 827, entitled:

> An Act to amend section six of the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighteen) entitled "An act relating to the appointment of persons to the police department in cities of the third class providing for and regulating examinations the manner of appointments and the manner and power of removal of employees of said department and providing a method for fixing compensation" as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that affects cities of the third class. I want to call your attention to the last paragraph of the bill, in which it says:

> Provided further however if it should become necessary to reduce the number of men in said department for purposes of economy seniority rights shall prevail and any and all removals for such cause or causes shall be from the members last appointed and the member or members serving the shortest time shall be removed first but members with longer times of service may be discharged for cause

I want to say to you that I am not in favor of that. I grant you that if there was a pension fund in operation in cities of the third class in which the members of the police department paid in some money, that would be alright, but as there is no pension fund I do not think it is a good bill. In my own business, I have had to observe seniority rights with my employees. Occasions would arise whereby the man, through some act, was not entitled to these rights, and it was then necessary for me to drop him. The same rule should hold good in the police department in the various cities of the third class. I have in mind now a case where if it was necessary to drop any of the employees from the department, I doubt very much if the seniority rights would be observed for the reason that certain of the older men have been infringing upon certain rules, and while it is true that it has not been sufficient to bring them up before the board for a hearing, yet they are infractions of certain rules, and for that reason I believe that this is not a good bill.

Mr. MOFFATT. Mr. Speaker, this bill and the following bill, No. 819, one applying to the police department in third class cities and the other applying to the fire department in third class cities are amendments to the Civil Service law now in force. Under the Civil Service law, a municipality may dismiss a member of the police or fire department for cause, or the superintendent may suspend for cause for a period not exceeding ten or thirty days,—I think it is ten days. The principle of civil service is that a man shall not be disturbed in his position for purposes other than the determination of his services or the extent of his services, and as the gentleman who just spoke stated, the best determination is by a pension fund, but in a great many cities of the third class, there is no pension fund in force for firemen and policemen. Under the present Civil Service law, for the purpose of reducing the force of either the firemen or policemen, the municipality may dismiss anyone employed, regardless of the length of time they have been employed. This is absolutely opposed to the principle of civil service. This amendment is intended to provide, and it does provide in case it is necessary, to reduce the force for the purpose of economy, that the last man appointed shall be the first to be removed, thereby putting in force civil service as it was intended to be That is the purpose of the bill and also the purpose of the bill following, No. 819.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1923.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. T. L. Eyre) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The acting Chaplain, Rev. George Edward Hawes, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we praise Thee for the innate conception we have of a God and of the consciousness of our lack in strength, strength of body, strength of mind and strength of spirit, but also the prompting of a great spirit that causes us to cast ourselves in our weakness upon Thee, who art able to help us in all of our deficiencies and needs. Thou hast said "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask it of God who loveth and upbraideth not. And to Thee we come as dependent creatures to ask that we may have the guiding spirit of Thee, great God. We want to praise Thee for men of integrity and character and wisdom who are called into public office and we want to praise Thee that these men recognize that there is an intelligence and a mind that is able to be given unto Thee and as these men of this Senate draw near to the time when they are called upon to make decisions and act on any great questions we do beseech Thee that they may be able to decide wisely and well, to their own credit, to the good of the Commonwealth and to the glory of God. And now we pray Thee for Thy blessing to rest upon every Senator, his home, his home family and upon his home community. Let Thy blessing, we beseech Thee, rest upon all the officers of this Commonwealth. Remember the Governor and his family, and his official family. We mention at the throne of grace to-day our country, our President, and all who are associated with him in authority, and we pray that above all and over-all, in all things, God may be in evidence and God may have His way. And all that we ask is in the name of Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO REVENUE FROM COUNTIES ON ACCOUNT OF MOTOR LICENSE FEES, ETC.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, requiring resolutions reported from committees to lie over one day be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of resolution reported from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways at today's session.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 23, 1923.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That it shall be the duty of the State Highway Department to compile and keep an accurate record, by counties, of the amount of moneys received and collected from each county in this Commonwealth for the registration of motor vehicles and the licensing of operators as well as all fines paid into the State Treasury under the motor vehicle laws of the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the Senate to the effect of this resolution, which provides that the State Highway Department shall keep a record of all motor license fees received from the various counties of the State. I have taken the matter up with the Highway Department and have been informed that to do so would entail an expense of approximately $7,500.00 each year. I cannot see that any good purpose, coextensive with that expenditure, would be accomplished by this resolution. If they had a system by which it could be done without expense, I, of course, would have no objection to it, but I cannot see why the Highway Department should be put to the expense of $7,500.00 each year to keep a record of this kind, without serving any good purpose.

Mr. CULBERTSON. Mr. President, That resolution was presented by Senator Vare, who has had great experience with records of that kind. He informed the Committee that it would take very little extra bookkeeping and the Committee, after considering it, voted to report out this resolution.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I regret that I did not hear all the remarks upon this resolution. This is just a simple case of an additional column on a set of books, and I am greatly surprised that my distinguished colleague, Senator Buckman, would object to a propostion of this kind. It simply means that when a license fee is paid to the Department that there will be an additional line on the book, to indicate the particular county to which said license was issued, and after all why cannot our State have a set of intelligent records. I am surprised at the opposition, for surely there cannot be any added expense. Why should not a member of the Senate from the great City of Philadelphia be entitled to walk into any Department and get an answer to a question how much tax the County of Philadelphia pays for this that and the other purpose. Whether it is a large county or whether it is a small county it should be possible to get such information. Philadelphia has been patient in these matters. We contribute very largely to the State and we ask very little in return and I am surprised and I regret, that my good friend should raise a slight objection to this very insignificant proposition.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia whether he has taken the matter up with the Highway Department to ascertain the additional expense which this resolution would entail?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would say to the distinguished Senator that there can be practically no expense.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, did the Senator from Philadelphia get that information from the Highway Department, or is it his own judgment?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, the information comes from my experience while Recorder of Deeds in Philadelphia for more than ten years and I would have changed those records upon the request of half a dozen citizens so as to show how much this and that cost.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, whether this is not the forerunner of an effort on the part of Philadelphia to obtain a part of the motor license fund.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, absolutely not. Philadelphia is exceedingly generous and at this time in particular.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. JOYCE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 267, on final passage, entitled:

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and eternal God, we thank Thee for our rich inheritance in Thee. We pray that Thou wouldst help us to apply Thy fullness to the poverty and necessity of our lives; and grant, Almighty God, that we may be partakers of Thee, to the end that we may be lifted above all sorrow and sin and fretting care. Therefore we would enjoy Thy serenity, compassion and gentleness, Thy power and service, and consciousness of Thy boundless resources. Thou art the fountain of our lives, full of unbounded satisfaction; and we pray, our Father, that our lives may be a never-ceasing appropriation of Thyself and Thy power, to the end that we may render a full and efficient service unto Thee, and unto our fellow men. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

RESOLUTION No. 17.

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time resolution No. 17, file folio 6277.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Whereas The failure of the City Bank of York and a number of other State banks throughout the Commonwealth has injuriously reflected upon the banking business of this Commonwealth and greatly disturbed business in the respective communities and has caused great financial loss and sore distress to a large numbers of persons and

Whereas Under the laws of this Commonwealth it is the duty of the Commissioner of Banking at least twice in each year to examine thoroughly every State bank trust company and the business of private bankers in this Commonwealth and

Whereas It appears that the banks which have failed were not examined as frequently as is required by law and that the said City Bank of York was not examined by the State department for a period of over two years and

Whereas It appears that these bank failures were caused by embezzlements and thefts committed over long periods of years which thorough and efficient examinations should have revealed before said embezzlements and thefts had become so great as to seriously affect said banks and

Whereas It is possible that these large embezzlements and thefts could have been averted by a vigilant and efficient inspection and supervision by the Banking Department of this Commonwealth therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a commission of eight citizens is hereby created which shall be composed of three members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and five members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker of the House which commission is directed to investigate the cause of the delinquency of the Department of Banking in its failure to examine the State banks of this Commonwealth as directed by law and the failure of the said Banking Department to discover upon inspection the embezzlements and thefts which were the cause of the failure of said banks

Resolved That the commission shall organize by the selection of a chairman and a secretary It shall have power to hold such hearings as may be deemed necessary to carry out the intent of this resolution It shall have power to take testimony to subpoena witnesses and to require the production of books papers records and documents If any person shall refuse to obey any subpoena issued by the commission or fails or refuses to appear and testify or to produce and books papers records or documents the commission shall lay the facts before the General Assembly for action

Resolved That said commission shall complete its duties by the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and shall on said day make a report to the General Assembly and in said report shall include such recommendation as it may deem necessary for the correction of the evils now existing Such report shall be accompanied by such drafts of legislation as the commission may deem necessary in the premises

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the resolution before you is clear and simple, and speaks for itself. It needs not much explanation, the reasons are there, yet is so vital and important in its import. I do not mean to come before you with any hostile or unfriendly or sinister motive whatever. That is not my intention. This is too serious and important a matter to stoop to that. I confess that there are members on the floor, bankers who are well informed on the banking business, and I shall not attempt to tell you anything new about banking affairs. You know all about it, but one thing I do know that is about the shock that has come down to the city of York, the York community and the surrounding farming districts. It has come down there like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. I shall not attempt to picture the scene that this has caused, the sorrow and the trouble and the distress to the poor hard working girls and women of the factories who were trying to be thrifty and saving, and the poor old men who only a few days ago were depending on a little money laid by, even if they will all get that money out, or part of it, and it is unfair that these men and women should suffer on this account.

You all know, we need not tell you, of the dozen or more state banks that have closed up and failed in the past few years. Can the State of Pennsylvania afford to let these banks go down? People will be losing confidence. Down in York, I know the effect it has had on the moral of the people. I have heard them say, "What is the use of putting money in the bank, we might as well spend it." Others are rushing to other banks and drawing their money out. It will have a wonderful effect upon the banks and the business life and you know the place and the usefulness of the banks in business life, what it means. You know the depositors, as well as I, have a right to know, they are part of the bank. A bank cannot exist without depositors, and I think they have a just and perfect right to know of the business affairs, and that is the only reason why I introduced this resolution, as I told you before. There is no unfriendly or hostile motive whatever. The people are simply in their shock clammoring for cause, cause, cause, Why is it? They have a right to know, to inquire from the bank officials; they have a right to know from the bank director; they have a right to know and to inquire from the banking bureau, the banking department, and their request in all fairness should not be refused. The Banking Commissioner, Mr. Cameron, I want to tell you this and I want you to hear it, has kindly told me that he is willing and ready any time to have anybody come there and he will give all the information that he is able to give. He has been all right and fair on that end. I hope that this House, this is asking nothing unfair, not whatever, will agree to this resolution and that the Speaker may be authorized to appoint five members from this floor, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three. It will take but a short time. There is no appropriation connected with it. They go over there and get the information and come back and report to this House. It will vindicate; and if the Department is innocent, which probably it is, why it will put it in the proper light and will help the people, it will comfort them. I hope that everybody will vote "aye" on this resolution.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Brenneman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. Do I understand that this resolution is a concurrent resolution?

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Yes, sir, it is.

Mr. SPANGLER. This resolution provides for the appointment of a committee from the House and one from the Senate?

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. SPANGLER. And that committee shall do what? What shall that committee do after they are appointed?

Mr. BRENNEMAN. They are to find out some cause as far as possible for the failure of the City Bank of York; that is the Banking Department's connection with it giving the cause of their failure to give supervision; to clarify the facts and give us the information. Tell us why that bank was not examined since April, 1921, because it is a fact that for two years no bank examiner ever stepped in that bank to look over the accounts and books. We wish to know who is responsible, and why.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I made inquiry from the Department of Banking and from the Commissioner of Banking as to the situation in the department, relative to bank examinations. The Department informed me that they had established a new system of bank examinations and that it was in the pursuance of the establishment of the new system that resulted in the discovery of the defalcations in the City Bank of York. The Banking Department has to a great extent been more or less of a neglected department by this legislature until this catastrophe happened. The Banking Commissioner informed me that at the present time, under the act of 1919 he has but three deputy banking commissioners; one at a salary of $5,000 per year, one at a salary of $4,000, an one at a salary of $3,000, yet at the present time the examiner who examined the bank in York was receiving $3600 a year. That condition cannot go on. His banking affairs will be demoralized if he is compelled to pay his subordinates a salary in excess of their superiors in the Department. He is governed by the rigid provisions of the act so far as the salaries of his deputies are concerned. The result has been that he has been losing, and the department has been losing for a number of years, their examiners and particularly their better class of examiners by reason of the fact that they have been unable to pay salaries commensurate with the duties performed, and commensurate with the salaries that these men would be able to demand in other walks of life, or other occupations.

Only a month ago we had in this House a bill that provided for an increase in the cost of examination of the books of Building and Loan Associations, and the House voted it down. Voted it down in spite of the information given by the Department of Banking that it was necessary and that it had been necessary for about two years past to take examiners off regular State banking positions and place them in positions where they could examine the building and Loan associations. That was a crippling of the Department of Banking, so far as examination is concerned. There is a bill now in the House, that has come over from the Senate, which has for its purpose the correction of the situation in the Department of Banking, so far as compromising the Department is concerned with relation to salaries.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I feel confident that if this resolution is referred to the Committee on Banks and Banking of the House the probability is that we would get much quicker action and a much quicker reply, and a much more hearty response from the Banking Commissioner than if we submit this in the form of a concurrent resolution that has to pass the House and Senate and ultimately demands that a committee appear before the Banking Commissioner. So, with the consent of the sponsor of the resolution, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Banks and Banking of the House, and I am sure that action will be taken on it immediately.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I hope sincerely that the sponsor of the resolution will see his way clear to accept that suggestion. There are two thoughts involved in the resolution; the one is to investigate the series of calamaties down in York, which I rather take it are being investigated now by the proper authorities. The other is one which concerns itself directly with this House, the proper reorganization of the Banking Department in order that this thing cannot happen again. As Mr. Spangler has just said, there will be before the House shortly a bill for the reorganization of the Department of Banking, and any information that can be obtained concerning the methods of operating the Department functions would be of great use to us in considering that bill. It therefore seems to me an appropriate reference that we may get the information which will help us in framing our legislation.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I feel that there is some misapprehension of the purpose of this resolution. It seems to me that the purpose of the resolution is a worthy one. It intends to see what the Banking Department has done with the number of failures in state banks recently. Up in my own community, only recently, one of the state banks failed, and there have been seven or eight failures in the last year or so. The present commissioner has been in office only about ten months. This man in York, as merely an instance, has admitted that he was embezzling money for the last 23 years. It seems to me that if the Banking Department needs reorganization we should know that fact before we adjourn, and we should pass such laws before adjournment as will protect the state banks. I think it is vitally important that the people of our Commonwealth have confidence in state banks. We have a great number of them in Pennsylvania. In my community we have several and they all have high standing. We want to continue having the confidence of the people in our state institutions and the only way we can continue to have the confidence of our people in the state institutions is for the depositors to know that their institutions are protected by the Banking Department. If the Banking Department does not have the proper facilities we should give them the proper facilities at this session.

I agree with Mr. Spangler in many things that he has said. I know personally one of the most efficient men in that Department who recently resigned as examiner and took the position of president in a trust company. He was one of the most efficient men, we believe, that was in that Department as examiner, and it is because of inadequacy of pay that he took a more responsible position. Therefore, if anything is wrong that the Legislature can rectify in the Banking Department to continue to have the confidence of the people in our state banks, and in the efficiency of our banking department, we should do it now. I think that the resloution as drawn up would carry out that purpose. It is not merely the intention of this resolution, as I view it, to inspect and to examine this particular case, it is to determine in a general way what the Banking Department has done in general and what it may require from us.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my colleague, Mr. Brenneman, on Tuesday night introduced a resolution asking for an investigation of the Banking Department, and in that resolution he asked for an appropriation. Considering the fact that the legislature will soon adjourn, and considering that in the first resolution, which carried an appropriation it would be necessary to refer the resolution to the committee on Appropriations, in order to expedite this matter he had a new resolution drawn up eliminating the provision providing for an appropriation. I don't agree with my colleague from York, Mr. Spangler, that this matter would be expedited by referring this resolution to the Committee on Banks and Banking, but I fear it would be delayed. I also agree with my colleague that this is not an unfriendly resolution. We are simply trying to get at the matters or facts in the case. If you will recall during the last two years we have had experiences with the examinations of the Banking Department. In the first instance, the North Penn Bank of Philadelphia failed and involved a large sum of money; that failure was followed by the Agricultural Trust Co. of Lancaster, involving an amount of $600,000. More recently the Honesdale Bank of Honesdale, Pa. failed, and now the most stupendous failure of all, the City Bank of York. This state bank, as stated, had not been examined for a period of two years, and the defaulting cashier, Mr.

Baird, had been robbing the bank for a period of 23 years. Apparently the banking examiners were easy picking to him. I imagine that when a bank examiner came to the door, he started in grinning all over his face and he would soliloquize something like this: "Well, here comes another bank examiner. They are chumps, they are big fools," and then he preceeded to tell them in what splendid financial condition the banking institution, of which he was cashier, was. But one day a new bank examiner comes along, and there are two versions of this story. One version is that immediately the cashier realized that he was up against it, and that he acknowledged the defalcation; and another version is, and this version comes from one of the prosecuting attorneys connected with the case, that this examiner after a period of three days did not find the defalcation but the cashier himself had to call up the examiner over the phone and tell him about the defalcation, and anyway I would think it would be a great benefit to the depositors in the various banks of this state, it would restore confidence if we had an investigation. Now is the time to have the investigation, have the report of the committee, and if there is any remedial legislation which at this late date can be enacted to make the Banking Commissioner and the Banking Department more efficient we should have that information and have it as speedily as possible. These bank defalcations are a serious matter to the economic life of the communities Even the City of York will suffer for a long period of years. It robs the savings of the men and woman of the community; it places the manufacturing and the business interests in a precarious predicament. Ladies and gentlemen, I say if there is anything under God's heaven with which we can stop dishonest bank officials from getting away with large sums of money and eluding the bank examiners, we should have the information. I ask you gentlemen, in all sincerity that you vote down the motion of my colleague from York, Mr. Spangler, and let us have the committee appointed as speedily as possible. Men and women in the city of York have their entire savings of a life time involved in this bank. It was the depository of the Board of Education and vast numbers of teachers had their money involved that they have saved. I ask you again to vote down the motion of Mr. Spangler to refer this to the Committee on Banks and Banking and sustain the resolution of my colleague, Mr. Brenneman.

Mr. STORB. This failure in York, the failure in Lancaster, and the failure of the North Penn Bank of Philadelphia are severe reflections on our Banking Department. I think the trouble is with our banking department, and we want to know what the trouble is. I don't think there is any use wasting time on money that is lost. The Department should be put in an efficient state, if they have not money enough to make examinations, this House should give them money enough. We had before us a bill providing more money to examine loan associations and they voted it down, because they said it would take money away from the poor man. Now this shows to you that we want to protect the interests of the poor man, and that you don't want to skimp the bank examiner so that he cannot make a good examination. I think it is the Banking Department that ought to be examined, and not waste time on this money that is gone.

Mr. BRENNEMAN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I see no use in this motion of my friend, Mr. Spangler. The purpose is plain and simple, and it is only this: To find out and report to this House and this legislature why the York bank was not examined. It takes but one hour's time. That is what we are interested in, and I can see no use in the motion.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, just to repeat what I said a few moments ago, I believe that if this resolution were submitted to the Committee on Banks and Banking we would have a report from the Commissioner at once. The resolution calls for action by the 14th of May. Now, it would be a physical impossibility for this resolution to pass and to have an investigation made in that short time. The Commissioner is frankly willing, he so informed me, to make a report setting forth exactly what his situation is, and it is for that reason that I make this motion to have the resolution referred to the Committee on Banks and Banking. In addition to this, I will say that he has only been in office for a few months, as head of the Department, and certainly he has demonstrated his efficiency by discovering this shortage on his first examination.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Brenneman.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago when the Chairman of the Committee on Banks and Banking was obliged, because of death in his family, to remain away from this House, he asked me to take charge of the Committee on Banks and Banking in his absence. Now that this resolution, by the vote of the House, has been referred to the Committee on Banks and Banking, I want every member of the House to feel confident that that Committee will exercise immediate action on the Resolution in conference with the Speaker of the House, so that by the effect of the passage of the Resolution the Speaker of the House will still have much to say concerning how and by whom this investigation will be made.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be noted upon the record.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILLEGE.

Mr. SPANGLER. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to state that the purpose of referring the Resolution to the Committee on Banks and Banking was to expedite the effect of the Resolution, and that I shall personally at the meeting of that Committee submit the question this afternoon.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman upon his question of personal privilege will be noted in the Journal.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOULTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, April 23, 1923.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That it shall be the duty of the State Highway Department to compile and keep an accurate record, by counties, of the amount of moneys received and collected from each county in this Commonwealth for the registration of motor vehicles and the licensing of operators as well as all fines paid into the State Treasury under the motor vehicle laws of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, this seems like a very reasonable resolution. yet it seems to me that the members of the House should consider exactely what this resolution embraces. It appears to me that it might place the Highway Department in a very embarrassing position if this data would be required of it. The data which is required under the resolution would be the cause of the Highway Department making a detailed list of the license fees received from all counties. That would give to every county some addition basis on which to present claims to the Highway Department. That is something that the Highway Department is trying to avoid, and it seems to me we ought to consider very seriously whether we are going to place this additional burden on the department. The resolution appears to have been inspired by the county of Philadelphia and would seem to be primarily for the basing of claims of the city of Philadelphia against the Highway Department, and it seems to me that if the members of the House will look at the State Highway map they will come to the conclusion that the county and city of Philadelphia have been given wonderful treatment by the department, and I would ask you to consider seriously before placing this burden upon the department.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Public Roads for investigation and report to the House.

Mr. METCALF. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 36, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of Chiropractic and to provide for the appointment and maintenance of the Board of Chiropractic Examiners To define the powers and duties of said Board of Chiropractic Examiners To provide for the examining and licensing of Chiropractors in this State and provide for penalties for the violation of this act

The first, second, third and fourth sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every mortgage heretofore given or hereafter to be given and which is or hereafter shall become a lien on real estate in this Commonwealth shall cease to be a lien on the real estate covered by the said mortgage at the expiration of fifty years from the time when the principal of such mortgage becomes due unless before the expiration of the said period of fifty years from the time the principal of the said mortgage becomes due the holder and owner of the said mortgage shall either (a) re-record the said mortgage or (b) shall record a declaration setting forth the name of the holder or owner of such mortgage and such a description of the said mortgage and the real estate against which the same is a lien as is sufficient for purposes of identification and a statement that the principal secured thereby is unpaid or if not all of the principal is unpaid then a statement of how much of the principal is unpaid Such declaration shall be signed by the owner of the mortgage and duly acknowledged before some person authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds for lands and shall be recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds where the real estate on which the said mortgage is a lien is situated Such mortgages and declarations shall be recorded in books in which mortgages are recorded and shall be indexed in the mortgagor index in the name of the original mortgagor in the same manner as mortgages are indexed and shall also be noted on the margin of the record of such mortgage

Section 2 Every mortgage the principal of which has become due and payable more than fifty years prior to the approval of this act shall (unless sooner satisfied released or discharged) remain a lien for further period of five years following the approval of this act and shall cease to be a lien at the expiration of such further period of five years from and after the date of this act unless before the said period of five years the holder or owner of such mortgage shall either (a) re-record such mortgage or shall (b) record a declaration that the principal or some part thereof is unpaid in the manner provided in the first section of this act Such mortgages and declarations shall also be indexed in the mortgagor index as provided in the first section of this act

Section 3 All Recorders of Deeds of the several counties of this Comonwealth are hereby authorized and required to receive or record and to re-record every mortgage tendered for re-recording as hereinabove provided and also every declaration as hereinabove provided and the Recorder of Deeds shall record every such re-recorded mortgage and recorded declaration in the books in which mortgages are recorded and the Recorder of Deeds shall also cause the same to be noted upon the margin of the mortgage affected thereby and also to be indexed in the name of the original mortgagor on the mortgagor index in like manner as mortgages are indexed

Section 4 Upon the re-recording of any mortgage or the filing of a declaration as provided in this act such mortgage so re-recorded or concerning which such declaration is filed shall continue a lien for and during the further period of fifty years from the date of such re-recording or recording unless sooner satisfied released or discharged

Section 5 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed Provided That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal or vary the legal presumption of payment of a mortgoge after a period of twenty-one years from the due date of the mortgage nor be construed to repeal any law providing a procedure to obtain satisfaction of a mortgage where the legal presumption of payment of a mortgage exists

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the members to the provisions of this bill. It seems to me it is very questionable whether it is wise legislation or not. This bill provides that where a mortgage has been due fort fifty years or more, that lien is absolutely lost unless it is re-recorded. It also provides if a mortgage has been due for fifty years, that it can be re-recorded within five years after the passage of this act. Under the laws of Pennsylvania, when a mortgage is given, it is really a conveyance of real estate with an equity of redemption. It is a contract between the mortgagor and the mortgagee. As I see this bill, and as I understand it, if this becomes a law, it will in effect destroy the obligation of a contract, which, under our constitution we are not permitted to do. I think it is very questionable for this reason, whether or not this act would be constitutional if passed. On the other hand, we already have on our statute books a complete method for relieving real estate from old mortgages, which have been on record for a long period of time and have not been satisfied. After twenty years, under the laws of Pennsylvania, there is a presumption of payment. In other words, if a mortgage is given, after twenty years or more, there is a presumption of payment. That presumption, however, is not conclusive, but the longer it is on record after it has been given, the number of years after twenty years, the greater is that presumption, but there is no limit of time when that presumption becomes conclusive, and it is also subject to re-establishment by the proper testimony. That would be for the relief of real estate from any mortgage of record that remains unsatisfied. My own judgment is, it is a dangerous thing to destroy that obligation of contract and to destroy the equity of redemption. If a mortgage has been on record for a number of years, you know it lapses as soon as it becomes due. Under the law, if a mortgage is given, payable at the expiration of one year, very often that very mortgage is carried on for years after it becomes due and the interest paid, and there is no reason why it should not be so carried on, but under this act, if a procedure of that kind was followed and carried on for a period of fifty years after it becomes due, even if all the interest is paid, if you did not watch the procedure after that time, you lose that lien absolutely. I can realize a very unusual case where a mortgage is carried on and allowed to remain on the records for fifty years after it becomes due. Under the terms of the mortgage, it is possible, and if such a condition did exist and a person did not enter the necessary proceedings to have it re-recorded, under the provisions of this act he will lose the lien and lose the entire outlay. For this reason, I think we ought to consider this very carefully before we enact it into law.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, it is not my purpose to interfere with the liens not is it my purpose to interfere with or impair any contracts, but after a period of fifty years from the due date of the mortgage, it seems to me there ought to be some provision by which that mortgage would lose its lien. We have, in the city of Philadelphia, especially, a lot of old titles, and very frequently mortgages will appear upon seven certificates, which are one hundred to one hundred and fifty years old, and it is necessary, in those cases, for somebody to go into court with a petition and to advertise and go to considerable expense to have that mortgage satisfied by the court. It is true that, after a period of twenty years, when nothing has been done on the mortgage, that there is a presumption of payment. This bill does not interfere with that presumption, there is still a presumption after a period of twenty years during which no money has been paid, either interest or principal.

So, we are not interfering with any established practice, but we do want to have some system that, after a long period of time a mortgage may be considered as no lien, so that the tile will be cleared, without the expense we have now of going into court with a petition and having the court do it. Everybody who has had any experience in these cases know that if you go into court with a petition, setting forth that under the presumption of payment, nothing has been done within a period of twenty years or more, when evidence is brought forth to show that the mortgage has been kept alive during that time, that the court will readily sign a decree of satisfaction of that mortgage, but you are put to the cost and the expense and trouble of going into court to have that done. In my judgment, this bill will merely say that, after such a period of fifty years, and not twenty years, that if something has not been done to re-record the mortgage or re-record the declaration that then it will be as a matter of fact considered as no lien, without the expense of going into court to have it done. Somebody has got to pay that. I imagine that you in the other counties have the same difficulty we have in Philadelphia in getting some of these old titles settled, and therefore, in my judgment, it is a good bill. I might say that this bill was prepared by the Title Association of Pennsylvania, and they would be the last ones in the country who would want to do anything against the interests of the mortgagor, they are always for the protection of the mortgagor, and they would probably be the last ones in the country also, to interfere with existing rights, and again, they frequently get special insurance rates for insuring against these things. I have taken it up with a number of title people in Philadelphia, and one of the best, I think, in Philadelphia said, in his judgment it is a good bill, although he feels that the time should be shortened from fifty years to thirty years, but that it was quite satisfactory to them that it should be placed a fifty years.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, this certainly is an anomalous piece of proposed legislation. Under the provisions of this act, it it provided that every mortgagee heretofore given or hereafter to be given and which is or hereafter shall become a lien on real estate in this Commonwealth shall cease to be a lien on the real estate covered by said mortgage at the expiration of fifty years from the time when the principal of such mortgage becomes due unless before the expiration of the said period of fifty years from the time the principal of the said mortgage becomes due and the holder and owner of the said mortgage shall either (a) re-record the said mortgage or (b) shall record a declaration setting forth the name of the holder or owner of such mortgage."

Now, Mr. Speaker, here is an unrecorded mortgage that the mortgagee has had hidden away in the kitchen clock, in the corner of the cupboard of the dining room, or at the bottom of his old trunk, unrecorded. Now, as has been said, after the expiration of twenty years, the presumption of law is that the mortgage, whether it is on record or not, is presumed to be paid. Now, here is a proposition that almost thirty years after that presumption arises and fifty years after the time that the mortgage has been placed upon record, it may be rejuvenated, and the lien may be recorded, acquired, upon the premises described in the mortgage, if the mortgagee has that mortgage recorded. I would inquire, who is to become the payer of this mortgage. That mortgage was executed and unrecorded for a period of fifty years upon property described by a mortgagor, Mr. A, may we call him; ten years after that mortgage was recorded or given, and there being no evidence on record and no changing in the possession of the occupancy of the mortgage, the mortgagor conveys that property to Mr. C, and Mr. C, five years afterwards, dies and his estate is settled by the orphans' court and the property passes to a purchaser at a judicial sale, twenty-five or more years later this property, having passed into the hands of an innocent holder, is to be encumbered by a mortgage fifty years old, of which nobody knows, perhaps, but the mortgagor and the mortgagee, and it is so many years ago they may be dead, and the burden of proof it to be shifted on that mortgage, and instead of the mortgagee being required to make the proof that that mortgage has not been paid, by the terms of this bill, it is to be shifted back upon the mortgagor, and the mortgagor, who gave its fifty years ago, may have been in his grave for twenty-five or thirty years. What do the successors entitled on the mortgaged premises know about it, how can they defend against it? Why, it would be making innocent purchasers of property bound to pay a mortgage fifty years old that was never placed upon the records. Isn't that laches, shouldn't the man suffer, even if the debt had never been recorded; he is the one who is guilty of the laches, and he should be made to suffer the loss, he or his heirs. Surely, no court of equity would enforce a mortgage under such procedure. Another clause requires that every mortgage, the principal of which has become due and payable more than fifty years prior to the approval of this act shall (unless sooner satisfied released or discharged) remain a lien for further period of five years following the approval of this act and shall cease to be a lien at the expiration of such further period of five years from and after the date of this act unless before the said period of five years the holder or owner of such mortgage shall either (a) re-record such mortgage or shall (b) record a declaration that the principal or some part thereof is unpaid in the manner provided in the first section of this act Such mortgages and declarations shall also be indexed in the mortgagor index as provided in the first section of this act.

Now, that covers the case when a mortgage has been recorded. They say this shall be a lien and the lien shall continue if you re-record the mortgage. Who ever heard of such an absurdity as that, the re-recording of a mortgage? This would give new life to a mortgage. When a mortgage is recorded, it is recorded for all time. It is indexed in the mortgage records, on the mortgage index, and is notice to the world. Re-recording it would have no effect so far as the moneys called for are concerned. It would be no further notice than when it was originally put on the record. When a deed is recorded, it is recorded for all time. We might just as well say, "It is allright, you have the deed to your property and the presumption is, it is yours, but if you want to hold that property and send it on to your heirs, at the expiration of fifty years from the time you received that deed, you must have that deed re-recorded. Isn't that an absurdity, gentlemen? One record is sufficient for all time, and a man who would not have his mortgage recorded within a period of fifty years is guilty of laches, and he should not, by permission of this Legislature, be permitted to come in and take advantage of innocent people. The person freed from the laches or neglect should not be made to suffer the loss.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, there is just one point to which I want to call your attention. You will notice that the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill, put more stress on the point of fact of the trouble and expense it requires to have an old mortgage satisfied. I cannot see any reason why we should relieve the mortgagor or his successor in title to the property from that expense or trouble, and at the same time put the burden on the mortgagee. Because of the fact that the mortgage is not satisfied when it is paid, the mortgagor and his successors in title are just as guilty of laches as the mortgagee is, and why give the mortgagor relief, guilty of laches as he is, and his heirs in law. I have in mind at the present time a man who holds a mortgage against another man. Perhaps there is no record in his papers; the mortgage is in the hands of some attorney of his, or is mislaid. His heirs and representatives would not know, perhaps, after 50 years or sometime after, it may have been 50 years, it may have been that old, and if the man were guilty of laches, the mortgagor taking advantage of that could come in and have that mortgage dropped off the record, mind you absolute title with an equity of redemption any time, and yet it would be dropped off the record without any notice to the mortgagee or his heirs. That is not fair, it is not right, it is not right for any man guilty of laches to have any benefit whatsoever, and I am opposed, having at the present time all of the powers and all of the methods and all of the practices possible to satisfy an old mortgage, I am not willing to relieve any man guilty of laches in that way.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with a great deal of interest and attention to my friend from Somerset, Mr. Ogle, and I have been unable to decide whether he is for or against it, but I sent out and got House Bill No. 74, and I find that my friend Mr. Ogle, even though he argued against this bill, himself offered a bill in this House to limit the life of a mortgage to 20 years. If he himself has suggested 20 years, how he can consistently come here today and argue that a lien limited to 50 years ought not to be given? What have we got in this bill sponsored by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Bluett? We have a bill which changes the law in one particular, and only one particular. It creates what is known in law as a conclusive presumption of payment. Now suppose one of you men have a house and create a mortgage on it, you would certainly borrow the money from somebody over 21 years of age, and if you borrowed the money, you would borrow, for three or five years, so if it was to be five years in which the money was to be paid back then that person would be 26 years of age, and the lien as provided by my colleague Mr. Bluett, is 50 years, then the person would be 76 years of age. Why at that age the ordinary man would not care whether he got the money back or not. Would he be here to get it? Isn't it void besides? But here is the real crux of the bill, here is the whole rub. Lawyers that are interested in title companies want to keep up this old system and the old system is that people are honest and reliable. If you had a mortgage on your house years ago you went to the mortgagee and said, "John, I owe you $1000.00 on that mortgage. Here it is. Do you want a receipt?" "Yes, give me a receipt. Take the money back, take the receipt back," and you live in your House for years and after while you die and your children look for the receipt and they cannot find it, or if they do find the receipt they cannot go down to the Recorder of Deeds office and sign off the mortgage, but you that own the house have to go to the title company and say, "Insure my title. Oh, yes, I have got a receipt." Let us keep the receipt and for doing you this little favor we will charge you $100.00." They keep the receipt forever and you pay them that one hundred dollars for keeping it. Now is it a fair policy in this Commonwealth to presume that the title company should get $100.00 to keep that receipt, or is it a better policy to say to the people of Pennsylvania that after 50 years, if you have not collected your mortgage, and you then must be 76 years of age, you have lost it. I want to know what man trusts another man so long as 76 years. I do not think anybody does, and as a practical thing for Pennsylvania let us get these old property owners out of the hands of a trust company or a title company that wants $100.00 to keep your receipt forever.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. Yes, sir.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Under the provisions of this bill, if enacted into law, what evidence is there on the records of the mortgage that the mortgage lien is dead and is no longer a lien on the real estate?

Mr. SOWERS. If this bill becomes a law, at the end of 50 years you would have the conclusive presumption of payment unless some of the methods used in the bill were taken advantage of to preserve the old presumption, as it was in Pennsylvania. Now at the present time you have in the law that at the end of 21 years the mortgage is presumed to be paid, and the mortgagee must show it was not paid. Does not that answer your question?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. It does partially, but it is not entirely correct. Suppose when this act was passed and put on our statute books for five years and then repealed would it not create a great deal of confusion on the records throughout this State as to which mortgages were actually dead and those that were not?

Mr. SOWERS. I think if Mr. Marshall wants to know what is going to happen five years from now, he should call upon my collegue Mr. Evans, or some other spiritualist.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to call your attention to the point which I endeavored to have cleared up, and which my friend has not answered. This to my mind is a very important matter which will result from the passage of this act. If this bill is enacted into law and a mortgage has been on record and due for fifty years, under the provisions of the act the lien is gone. In other words, the mortgage is dead and might as well be wiped from the books. But there is absolutely no evidence on the margin of the mortgage to show that it is a dead mortgage. The Legislature in 1925 could come here and repeal this act after that time there is no evidence on the record to show that the mortgage did happen to become due five years ago, in the two year period instead. We have no evidence on the margin of the record whatsoever, and it would take a conveyancer who would be responsible for going back to look up this act of Assembly as long as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is in existence and check up this two year period to determine the free title. Check up this two year period to determine whether or not the old title of fifty years terminated within this two year period. To my mind this is another reason why we should not pass this act without some notation made on the margin of the mortgage that the fifty years lapsed at a definite time between the date of the passage of this act and the time when we could consder a mortgage lien as dead.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Gelder, Harer, Orr, Fratt, Burd, P. Evans, Bidelspacher, Wells, Hetrick, Joshua Evans, Bromley, Dilsheimer, Bluett, Burns, Conner, Diehm, Earley, Hall, Haslett, Heffernan and Haws.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hall, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I desire to ask the gentleman to explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this in a bill which has been prepared by, and is backed by, the National Association for Uniform State Laws. This body has been in existence since 1892, and has introduced some of the best laws which are now on the statute books of the various states. The Pennsylvania legislature in 1917 feeling that it wanted representation on this National Board of Commissioners for uniform state laws, passed an act, in Pamphlet Laws 90, of that year, which provides, "It shall be the duty of this board to examine such subjects as it may deem necessary and to ascertain the best means to effect an assimilation and uniformity of state legislation throughout the United States relative to the subject so examined." As a result of that, commissioners were appointed in 1917. They have been appointed ever since, and at the present time the commissioners from Pennsylvania who represent this state on the national board are William H. Stockley, chairman, Walter George Smith and William M. Hargest, all of whom the attorneys of the House will recognize as reputable lawyers of this State. At the present time I might say that in Pennsylvania we have adopted the following acts. which have been prepared by this conference: The Negotiable Instruments Act, the Sales Act, the Warehouse Receipts Act, the Bills of Lading Act, the Stock Transfer Act, the Limited Partnership Act, the Deposition Act, the Fraudulent Conveyance Act and the Proof of Statutes Act, ten in all. This may be a brief digression, but I feel as though an explanation should be given at this time as to the way these bills are prepared. Firt of all, a committee is appointed by the national commission to decide whether or not a certain subject is a fit subject for a uniform law, whether the conditions of the particular states will accede to uniformity in the law. After that is finished and the committee decides that it does meet with their desires as to uniformity, it is framed by an expert draftsman on law matters. It then comes before a committee at a subsequent session, and is acted upon section by section. That is not sufficient for this conference of lawmakers, but at a subsequent session it is gone over a second time section by section, and that act in its final shape is then taken out to the various states so that they may adopt these statutes in order that we may have uniformity of law throughout the nation. This bill was prepared in that way.; It has been adopted in practically eight states of the Union. At the present time I have only the names of three, Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida, but I have been advised by Judge Hargest, who was a member of these commissions from Pennsylvania, that five states have recently, by their present legislative framed the Declaratory Judgments Act.

Now, for an explanation of the bill: I believe we can all see, from what I have said, that it has been drafted properly. Now, I shall answer the question of the gentleman from Delaware as to the meaning and the purpose and the aim of this measure. This is a preventive measure rather than a curative measure. It tries to get at the root of the evil before the plant grows. When I was in the grade schools and had to learn how to write, I had a copy book put before me containing small maxims. One of them, was "A stitch in time saves nine." Another was, "Don't lock the stable after the horse is stolen." I feel that this bill is that one stitch that will save nine. I believe that it is the stable that is locked before the horse is stolen. If there is a contract, if there is a will or any written instrument upon which some question or controversy has arisen, we need not wait until there is a breach, until someone has caused damage, before we go into court under the present acts of Pennsylvania; but we can go into court with that written instrument and have it interpreted, get a declaratory judgment, in other words, which decides that matter for the future. It avoids a great deal of hostility and trouble that may arise in the future because of anger, vengeance, that might arise between the litigants. It avoids further suit for perjury and things of that kind, before the trouble has been caused. We are trying to stop it before it arises. I can think of no better explanation of that part of the subject then this paragraph, which is contained in the reasons for the adoption of this act, as printed by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. They say the declaratory Judgments Act is nothing more then a bill to make it possible for a citizen to ascertain what are his rights, and what are the rights of others, before taking steps which might involve him in costly litigation. The purpose of the act and its effect is to enable the citizens to procure from a court guidance which will keep him out of trouble, and to produce that guidance with materially less expense than he would have to incur if he should wait until the trouble comes before having recourse to the court. In brief, ladies and gentlemen of the House, that is the purpose of this act.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STOFFLET. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it was in a spirit of banter with some of my friendly colleagues that I agreed to talk on this measurer. I have since sincerely regretted my promise. This theme deserves a better discourse then I am able to give it. There was a time when I thought I knew something about archaeology, until one day I met an archaeologist. Of course, that was in the age of cork. We both got ready to pull the cork, but he got his cork out of his bottle before I did and he started to pour it allover me. He told me about himself, then he told me about his family, and he had some family tree, a whole forest of it; then he told me about his profession, and in about ten minutes he made me feel as insignificant as a blackhead on a colored man's nose. That fellow could handle the language, and he handled it properly. The newspapers have been very liberal with old King Tut. They have given him unlimited space. Today that old fellow is as famous as he was when he was a Pharoah in Egypt. The manufacturers and business men have called drapes, silks, corsets, dress shields, shoes, ties and stockings for old King Tut. The Egyptians, in their day, did many things that we in our time don't understand, nor do we know the reason. They had their sacred animals; they had their sacred bulls; their sacred goats, their sacred white ibis and sacred goat. We, in our time, have none of those things We believe in one God. We have no longer in our time, the sacred bull like the Egyptians did. We sling the bull, we throw the bull, and we spread the bull. We no longer sanctify the cat. We swear by the cat's rubbers and by the cat's whiskers and by the cat's fallen arches. We no longer revere the goat, we pass the buck, and if old King Tut could come back here and see how we treat the poor cow's husband and the poor goat, somebody would be in for a good swift kick.

There is something pathetic about the history of this great county. Of all the pages in the world's history, there is none that strikes the student with greater awe or more reverence than that which records the events in the life of Egypt during the reign of the Pharoah's.

When Greece was just emerging from the shadows of barbarism and before the very name of Rome was known to the world, Egypt was far advanced in science and the arts. Hundred-gated Thebes counted her people by the millions and was the most magnificent city of all time. Then came the Assyrian and overthrew the throne of the Pharoahs forever. The Persian war-cry rang through the streets of Memphis and of Thebes. They laid their destroying hands on the temple of her gods and the goods of her people. With a train of a thousand bull elephants, their joints creaking under their loads of plunder, Cambyses came down the Nile and Egypt, greater than Babylon the great, fell, to rise no more. There is a pathos in the history of this ancient empire that is absent in the history of any other country. At a distance of three thousand years, we turn back and see the remains of Egyptian labor, Egyptian craftsmanship and Egyptian art. The country is strewed with ruins. Avenues of sphynxes, gateways, arches, columns and obelisks; here we find a column standing erect as the day when the master builder put it there, there lies his fellows; here stands an obelisk, there lies one buried in its grave of sand until another race of men as mighty as the Egyptians shall come down that way and point it once more to the skies. So lie the ruins, once works of extraordinary magnitude while above them, in all the nakedness of desolation the colossal skeletons of giant temples stand in the unwatered sands in solitude and silence. They are neither gray nor black, there is no moss nor lichens, no pitying ivy to robe their nakedness or hide their deformity with its mantle of green.

There is more merit in this bill than many of the members of the House may at this moment realize. The object, as I understand it, is to prevent the imitation of the works that we gather today from the different parts of the earth, not that they may afterwards be exposed for sale, but whether exposed for sale or not, the object of the bill is to prevent their imitation, to preserve the sanctity and the dignity that those works and antiques ought to have in history.

Mr. WELLS. In behalf of Senator Baldwin, the sponsor of this bill, I want to state that it is offered at the request of the Historical Society of the State.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1456, (Senate Bill No. 570), entitled:

An Act providing for the merging of moneys held in certain special funds in the State Treasury with moneys in the general fund providing for the use of all moneys in the general fund for the payment of appropriations and for the payment from the general fund of moneys appropriated and dedicated for special purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally:

Mr. BEAVER. Mr. Speaker, is there any person present who can explain this bill?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman desires to know if there is any person present who can explain this bill.

Mr. McCAIG. This is one of the bills recommended by the commission appointed during the last session of the Legislature and is to permit the special funds being turned into the general fund in order that when we have bills due and the educational institution require money, that they are not obliged to wait for it. Is simply makes the deposits flexible. The special funds are revenue funds. During the last financial year 18% of the total revenues of the Commonwealth went into special accounts. With the increase in receipts of the motor licenses and no increase in other revenues, this will likely become 25%. The general fund contained, at a recent date, $114,637.86. The special funds, $18,939,752.04, will be paid to the special funds during the last fiscal year, $24,000,000.00 a special fund with special privileges for certain classes of work. The first special fund other than the sinking fund was the state school fund, created in 1911. These funds are not affected by the bill, neither are the sinking funds nor those funds which are contributed or made by third parties, or where the money comes from the Governor, or where the moneys do not belong to the Commonwealth. This does not abolish the special fund, but makes the money available for the use in the general fund in order that they may pay out instead of leaving it lay in the bank until the money is needed for that which it was appropriated.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1392 (Senate Bill No. 600), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 915) entitled "An Act to fix the salaries of the deputies in the offices of the clerk of the courts county controller, recorder of deeds, county treasurer, chief deputy sheriff, and chief clerk to the county commissioners, in counties of this Commonwealth having over two hundred and fifty thousand population and less than four hundred thousand population; by changing the manner of fixing salaries and prescribing the minimum thereof; and making the act apply to counties of the third class.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill raises the salary of deputy clerks of the courts and other officers from $2500 to $3000 dollars. I received from a couple of the deputies of our county letters stating they are satisfied with the present salary, and I have not received from the tax payers a single one of them, any information that they want to raise the salaries, they see no necessity for raising the salary from $2500 to $3000. I, therefore, ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1379 (Senate Bill No. 282) entitled:

An Act concerning liability for participation in breaches of fiduciary obligations and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as this bill comes from the Senate, may I just say that it is another one of the bills framed by the commissioners on uniform state legislation that has been explained this afternoon by my friend from Dauphin, Mr. Hall, does not at all affect the relationship of the fiduciaries to their trust, but merely affects the legal relations of those who deal with fiduciaries and the bill has been brought in for the purpose of simplifying the banking relationships of those who do business by signing their account as trustees.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 48, as follows:

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed and all rulings or decisions of the Public Service Commission or of the courts inconsistent herewith are hereby declared null and void

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been amended very considerably since I introduced it, and I would yield to my colleague, Mr. Bidelspacher.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how this is going to affect the public service corporations.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 48 was designed to change the existing law in regard to public service companies in that the readiness to serve charge was proposed to be cut out. However, the bill has been amended so that for certain items specified in the bill, there may still be a readiness to serve charge, but it qualifies the law so that the readiness to serve charge is limited to the items as set forth in the bill that are commonly known as consumers' charges, and that the readiness to serve charge must be limited to those specified items and not to the matter of capital investment or depreciation of property, or a lot of other matters that never have been made clear by the public service companies, even in their brief before the committee. In other words they are limited to certain specific items upon which to base their readiness to serve charge.

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I think that this is a matter which the Public Service Commission should thresh out. This matter has been befort them for years and they have had the engineers on water and gas and electricity before them. and before all the conventions that have been held by the different utilities companies, the Public Service Commission sent their engineers there. They all agreed. that is, the engineers agreed, that it was the fairest way to sell gas, that is to have a charge for the services rendered first, but I know it is very unpopular, that kind of a charge, and the wrong comes in if they make a charge and then charge too much for the gas. That is where the trouble comes in. That ought to be threshed out by the public service commission. I don't think we ought to make a law here affecting that, because that is a pretty deep subject.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, as far as the general idea of the bill is concerned, it remains practically the same as when I introduced it. The point I am trying to make in this bill is the fact that the public service commission has not decided on these matters so these conditions apply to a great number of people. Any method permitted by the public service commission that breeds so much dissatisfaction to my mind is not a good method, and it is to prevent such an occurrence as this that I have introduced this bill. There seems to be general dissatisfaction throughout the State caused by these so-called meter or service charges, instead of placing it at the rate allowed by the public service commission, and it is to correct just such things as this and to try and make the people more satisfied that I have introduced the bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to endorse what has been said by the gentleman from Montgomery a few minutes ago, because the amendment to this bill is against the principle of rate making, and rates should not be fixed by the Legislature unless we are going to fix the rates for everyone, and if we once attempt to do that then there is going to be an end to the free administration of business. Now in this particular case this law attempts to say that one element, or one kind of charge shall no longer be made. Now, of course, it is obvious that there may be a case where this kind of charge is a proper one, and I recall at the hearing before the committee it was said by some of those who came from the western end of the State that they had this kind of a charge for years in their natural gas properties and that there was no complaint on the part of the consumer at all. Now in the case of the utility that has to construct a main covering five thousand feet to reach a particular consumer and that particular consumer afterwards decides to take no gas, then that main is one of the costs of the system. And there some charge must be assessed upon that particular consumer or else in some way to have the cost distributed among their other consumers. Now, it seems to me a complicated question and as to a matter of rates we should leave the whole thing to the commission to consider the elements and then eventually reach a righteous conclusion . I am aware of the fact, as the gentleman has said, that there is the satisfaction with this form of rate, particularly when it is imposed for the first time in new communities where the people have not been accustomed to the charge. The commission realized that fact and never imposed or sustained this question of a charge except when it was coupled with the facts of the case. When we have a properly designated body to function as completely as possible under existing circumstances, when we have that kind of body it seems to me it is fair to leave the problem to them.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the system as it is now is more equitable than it would become under this bill. Now just let us see how it works out in actual practice. You take at the present time our gas companies. They are established more or less as an emergency link, much the same way as you use the spare tire on your automobile. You take the large localities of the State, such as the city of Reading, and all big mercantile houses use the electric lights to light their places, yet the gas companies have to provide them with service. It may happen that these big mercantile houses may hardly use any gas at all during the month, yet the law says the gas companies must provide the service. The result is that the electric light companies get the money, and the gas company unless there is an emergency, gets nothing at all out of it. As I see it, the expense of service which the gas company has in maintaining this service must naturally fall on the other consumers of this gas, and the little fellow, the poor man who uses gas in his home, must pay in order to maintain this emergency service for the big mercantile houses and others. It seems to me that the little fellow must therefore pay for the service that is now rendered to these big concerns. Some of the concerns would not have a gas bill of fifty cents a month, and unless they are permitted to collect these service charges, naturally that expense falls over and is placed on the regular consumers of gas, which are the common people, the poor people in the State. It seems to me, therefore, that this relieves the larger mercantile houses from paying for the maintaining of this service, and it simply takes that burden and throws it over on the small fellow. I feel it would be better to leavee it as it is now, rather than pass this bill.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 581, entitled:

An Act imposing a poll tax for county purposes on male and female residents over the age of twenty-one years and abolishing the occupation tax

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "yeas" appeared to have to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 100 members having voted in the affirmative and 5 in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. HARER asked and received unanimous consent to report a bill from committee at this time.

Mr. HARER, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended House Bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

HOUSE BILL No. 81 MADE SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 81 be made a special order of business for next Monday evening at 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lycoming, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, whether he would not consent to have the special order set for Tuesday morning in order to give the members a chance to look over the bill.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to consent to that request, but we have already held the bill here for so long a time that I think everybody knows what is in it. Now, I would like to get it to the Senate as quickly as possible. If this special order is not until Tuesday, it will retard the bill another day in the Senate, and I had hoped to get it through Monday night.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, in fairness to the members who are not members of the Appropriations Committee, I would ask the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to accede to the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, for this reason, that I think he will gain time in the arguments on the bill. The members have a right to consult the bill and see what amendments have been put in, and I would ask the Chairman to accede to the request of Mr. Steedle. I think we would gain time by so doing.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, if the House insists, I will agree to make it Tuesday and I withdraw my motion.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

Mr HARER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 81 be made a special order of business for Tuesday, May 8, at 11:30 o'clock A. M.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1338, entitled:

An Act providing a means whereby the individual justice of the peace may better inform himself as to the law changes in the law and decisions of the Courts on the law of this Commonwealth

Whereas The income of the office in a great majority of cases does not permit the maintaining of a private library therefore

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Myers, permit himself to be interrogate?

Mr. MYERS. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I would like to ask the gentleman if he does not know that all counties at the present time have law libraries which are open to the public. Not only to justices of the peace, but to everybody.

Mr. MYERS. In our county we have such libraries, but we do not have such files that a justice of peace can have access to to get the record of the Court. That is what this bill gives to them, if this were compulsory.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, it has been my experience that all counties have at the present time law libraries. These law libraries are kept up somtimes by appropriations from the Commissioners of the county, for awhile they were kept up by receiving one-half of the fees in each county, and these law libraries are open to the public. Now, we had a bill today on the calendar, which is on the postponed calendar at the present time, which provides that at the discretion of the court all or part of the fees or penalties may be paid to the law library association for the furnishing and the up-keep of these law libraries. Now, that means a complete law library and that law library is not only for the members of the bar, but for the whole county at large. On the other hand I can see no reason for a bill of this kind. You generally have about two or three justices of the peace in the county that want to know the law. And as a general thing what they want to know they ask some friend, an attorney, and he tells them. At any rate, as I said before, they already have this provision.

Mr. Spangler, says don't fuss about this bill. Now I have been defending the justices of the peace all through this session, while Mr. Spangler has been fussing about them all through the session, and while he tells me not to fuss about this, I can see no reason for having such a bill on the statute books.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, this, I think, is probably the most important bill that has been before this session of the legislature, since we have been sitting here. One of the justices of the peace in Adams county called to see me about a bill providing a law library for justices of the peace, and it seems to me that if a justice of the peace in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania wants to be informed and wants to be educated in the law, certainly the legislature should encourage them in that worthy pursuit.

Now this bill formerly provided that the county commissioners shall provide the ways and means of access to certain law books in a law library. The chief justice of Adams county, Mr. Bucher, called to see me, and we changed that from "shall" to "may", so that it is not obligatory on the county commissioners. This law is to say the least trifling, but if these justices of the peace believe they ought to have some instructions in the law, and the county commissioners in the goodness of their hearts are willing to appoint a library of some kind, or a digest of the laws for their convenience, why should not the legislature permit the county commissioners to do that? It is not obligatory, it is optional with the county commissioners.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. SPANGLER. I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 204, file folio 5319, entitled,

> An Act directing the Governor with the assistance of a budget director and assistants to prepare and transmit to each General Assembly a budget for each of the two fiscal years next succeeding and to submit therewith a general and other appropriation and revenue bills providing for the consideration thereof by the General Assembly requiring spending agencies of the Commonwealth and the fiscal officers thereof to furnish certain information and providing for uniform systems of accounting and financial reports for control and supervision over the expenditures of the Commonwealth and for the lapsing of appropriations was defeated on final passage on Wednesday, April 25, 1923, be reconsidered.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the bill which provided for the establishment of a budget, which came up for consideration last Wednesday night in a light House, and was defeated by eighty-seven votes in favor of it and fifty-nine against it; but a majority did not vote on it. There was merely a discussion of the provisions of the bill and I think some proper criticisms of it were made. I took the mater up with those who originally prepared the bill, and if this motion to reconsider should prevail in the House, I should be very glad to offer some amendments which I think will have the effect of meeting the objections which were made on the floor of the House. I hope, therefore, you will see your way clear to support this motion to reconsider.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 204 passed third reading be reconsidered.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1383 (Senate Bill No. 434), entitled:

An act to further amend section one of an act, approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, entitled "An act permitting counties of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appropriate and expend moneys, and to incur indebtedness and issue bonds and other obligations, for the improvement and maintenance of State highways and State-aid highways of any public highwy and any county of the Commonwealth, and providing the method for applying for said moneys and for the approval thereof by the State Highway Department in certain cases."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I desire to ask the gentleman, the chairman of the Public Roads Committee, if this bill is satisfactory to the Highway Department?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I should say it is not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I desire to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will the gentleman explain what the bill is.

Mr. WILLIAMS. In reply to the gentleman from Delaware, under the present law, the Highway Department has the authority or right to construct all township and county roads, where the money is furnished locally, the same as they do when the money is furnished by the State. This bill gives to the municipalities and counties, the right to construct their own roads where they furnish the money without intervention or any supervision from the Highway Department, unless they ask for it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will the gentleman explain, the reason I am asking this is because I notice this bill does not set forth or underline the amendments, and there is no way of picking out what the amendment to the old bill is.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. The only change in the existing law that Senate Bill No. 434, file folio 1011, makes to the existing law is on the bottom of page 2, by striking out the words, "and until and unless the said application has been submitted to and approved by the State Highway Department." This bill pertains entirely to a road that is desired to be constructed entirely by the county, not by the county and the State or by county and the township and the State or by the county and the borough and the State, but where the highway is a county highway and it to be constructed entirely by county funds. It simply provides that in that case, it is not necessary that the application be submitted and approved by the State Highway Department. In other words, those words, "and until and unless the application has been submitted to and approved by the State Highway Department" are stricken out. And there is also a change in the last phrase on page 4: "And provided further that when the improvement or maintenance of any public highawy in the county"—and these are the new words—"is necessary and is to be paid for wholly by the county, the commissioners of said county may proceed with the improvements or maintenance." Those are the new words added to the existing law.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. The gentleman from Tioga has stated that this is not satisfactory to the Highway Department. Do you know what the objections of the Highway Department are to the bill?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. I am not aware, personally, whether this bill meets with the approval of the Highway Department or not, but it does seem to me that when a highway is to be constructed wholly by the county, with the funds of the county, that it ought to be done under the supervision of the county commissioner, and the county commissioner alone, and for that reason I am in favor of this bill.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, Under a question of personal privilege I desire to make a statement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, a practice has prevailed recently in the House of members calling up their bills out of order for the purpose of amendment. Back of that purpose usually is the desire to advance bills at the expense of other bills on the calendar. This very much delays work of the session and at times gives undue preference to bills under consideration, and therefore I would suggest that hereafter that should not be done. It requires unanimous consent to do this, and I make the statement that objections will be filed when it is attempted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regards the remarks of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, as very timely, and they will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I wholly endorse what my colleague, Mr. Flynn, has said, and I think we will expediate matters in this House by so doing. We are late in the session now and I think the members should take heed and warning. As I stated a week ago, I shall be one of those who will object at any time when bills are called up out of order. It is unfair. If we are going to get through, if we are going to help do the fair thing with every member to get his bill through, it must be done in a businesslike manner.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The motion was agreed to and (at 9:57 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1923.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, we thank Thee for all the kindness, health, strength and friendship that has come to us through Thy great gift, and we pray that Thou wouldst help us to be true to Thee and give ourselves in an unstinted degree to fruitful service for the welfare of mankind in this day of the world's crying need. Save us from that degradation of soul that comes from unbelief in Thee and from calloused indifference to the welfare of mankind. Inspire within us an unswerving faith and confidence in Thee and a continued interest in the welfare of our fellowmen. We ask it in the name of Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question?

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I object. I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, about the purpose of the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I certainly will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to learn from the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, the purpose in recommitting this bill to the Committee on Elections?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, my only object in recommitting the bill is because it refers entirely to one county.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not see that that is a reason. This bill has been in the Committee on Elections before. It has been considered, is now on the calendar and the time is getting short. The sponsor of the bill spoke to me as the Senator from the district from which he comes to ask that the bill be forwarded, if possible. Now if the Senator from Allegheny has any real reason for sending it to the Committee on Elections, then I have no objection.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would say to my colleague from Allegheny County that there are at least four, if not five, constitutional amendments pertaining to election laws which are still in committee. One is a House Bill. These amendments to the election laws, refer to one county, Allegheny County. We all believe in the Constitution of this state and I think we all know that election laws must be general as to the provisions. There is no objection to it whatever, but as an amendment to the Constitution pertaining to the election laws does it pertain specifically to Allegheny County only? That is what I want to know before it goes any further, not going into the question of providing for the advertisement for the next two years of these constitutional amendments, not going into that proposition of the expenditure of two or three hundred thousand dollars for that purpose, but knowing full well that each and every one of these constitutional amendments are unconstitutional.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny, can convince me that there is anything in this bill that refers to counties of the second class, I will have no objection. I did not read it that way.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, under the circumstances, I will withdraw my motion and ask that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am satisfied.

The PRESIDENT. The motion has been withdrawn.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill 890 (House Bill No. 45), entitled:

be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I hoped that there was going to be no objection in the Senate to this bill. There are traveling men and railroad men from my district and in other districts in the state that have spoken to me about this bill over a period of three or four years. It was defeated in the legislature of 1921 and these men that are on the road have no chance to get home, and they are entitled to a square deal and a chance to cast their ballot and have it counted. Every other state in the Union around us has the absent voters bill. I understand they have it in Ohio, New York; they have it all around us, New Jersey and why Pennsylvania should not have it and give these men who at great sacrifice of time and money can vote, or else if they do not have the money to make the secrifice cannot get home and cast their ballot with the protection thrown around them by this bill. I cannot understand why it should go back to Committee on Elections and there, perhaps, be kept in a place where it will not have a chance to get out and be passed. There are men in this state, and a lot of them, and there are women in this state, and a lot of them, who are away on election day and know three days prior to election day that they cannot be home. It seems to me, gentlemen, before this vote is taken, that you should give consideration to those facts and not send this bill back to the Committee on Elections. If this bill is going to be defeated, let it go on final reading, and then let the men who are traveling and making their living on the road know that this Senate does not intend to give them a square deal. That is the way to do it in manly fashion, but do not send it back to the Committee on Elections, or any other committee, and smother it. I ask the members of the Senate in fairness to the men that are on the road, that you cast your vote "no"

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I do not intend to argue the merits of this bill, I do not think that is in order at this time. I understand from the Chairman of the Committee on Elections that a hearing has been asked for on this bill and I for one do not see any reason why it should not be recommitted to the committee for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. CRAIG: Mr. President, a very large number of my constitutents, and I have in my district probably one of the largest railroad yards in the world, are very much interested in having this bill passed. I hope the Senate will vote down this motion to send it back to the Committee.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I do not want to argue the merits of the bill, but it does seem to me that when the Chairman of a Committee makes a request of this Senate that he would like to have a bill referred back to his committee for a hearing, that the Senate certainly ought to extend that courtesy to him, A casual glance at the bill, to my mind, shows that it opens up a great possibility for fraud. In addition to that it would entail a considerable expense on the several counties of the state in connection with the election. So I hope that the request of the Chairman of the Committee will be acceded to by the Senate.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to ask for information, whether the records show the Chair has not already decided the motion as carried?

The PRESIDENT. The question on the motion has not yet been put.

My EYRE. Mr. President, I am not going to argue the merits or demerits of the bill, but with my knowledge of the fairness and integrity and the honesty of the Chairman of the election Committee, the Dean of this Senate, has asked for a recommittal of the bill to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of a hearing, being a House Bill, it will only take one day to finally pass it, no harm can certainly come to the bill by giving to the Chairman the request that he makes. I sincerely hope that this Senate will stand by the Chairman in giving him the opportunity of having the bill recommitted for the purpose of a hearing of those who desire to be heard.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there is no doubt that the Chairman of this Election Committee, the same as the Chairman of any other committee, has been approached by some Senator, and out of courtesy has been asked to have this bill sent back to his committee. I do not know that to be a fact, but there is no reason to argue this matter out from the standpoint of sentiment. I had a very bitter experience here last Tuesday when the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, if you please, deliberately took one of my bills from the desk of this Senate and sent it back, instead of to the committee from which it was reported, to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I keenly resent the accusation made by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, when he says that I took a bill of his from the desk and attempted, by any underhand method, to handle it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny. Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, my remarks were based entirely on the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was recognized by the Chair and I would like to have the Chair declare that I was recognized.

The PRESIDENT. Remarks must be confined to the motion before the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was doing that and arguing on the basis of the talk made by the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, from the standpoint of so-called Senatorial courtesy. That is what I was arguing. I have no objection to the Senator from Lancaster having this bill. There is no senator on the floor of the Senate from whom I hold a higher regard than he. That is not the question at issue, the question at issue is that this bill is being sent back to the Committee on Elections with the idea that they will put it to death. That is the idea and you might as well meet the issue. The Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, has times without number here said "lay the cards on the table". They are on the table so far as I am concerned on this bill and I give notice to the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, that they are going to be on the table from now on to the end of the session.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I want to say that I have read this bill and if it is what I think it is I am going to vote for it on final passage. In view of the fact that a recommittment is asked for the sake of a hearing, I will vote for this motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Barr and Mr. Lanius, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—18.

Aron,
Baldwin,
Brown,
Buckman,
Clark,
Daix,

So the question was determined in the negative.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE RECOMMITTING SENATE BILL No. 1078.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1078, entitled:

> An Act regulating the sale, offering for sale, barter, exchange and giving of tickets, cards, or other tokens evidencing the right to a reserved seat in and of admission to any theatre, concert hall, or fields, or other place of amusement; and providing penalties.

was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special on Tuesday of last week. This bill did not reach the calendar; it came from the Committee on Judiciary General to the desk, was read the first time and recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, This is the bill that it is alleged I snatched from the desk by some mysterious method and have treated unfairly. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I want to say that I am perfectly willing that my reputation should stand against that of my accuser in matters of this kind. There is a bill of similar purport in the Committee on Judiciary Special. I moved in the regular way from my seat on the floor, without any effort of concealment, that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special, and the motion passed without any dissenting vote. Mr. President, I say that from my viewpoint the bill is now in possession of the Committee on Judiciary Special, where a hearing will be accorded to anybody who desires to be heard on it and the companion bill that is in that Committee. I think this Senate has no power to take the bill from the Committee on Judiciary Special, excepting by a motion to discharge the Committee for further consideration of the bill. I raise the point of order that the bill is in the possession of the Committee on Judiciary Special and the only manner in which it can be taken from the Committee on Judiciary Special is by a motion to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, The question before the Senate is nothing concerning the Judiciary Special Committee. The only question before the Senate is to reconsider the vote by which this bill was sent to the Committee on Judiciary Special, and I am perfectly within my rights, so far as parlimentary law of this Senate is concerned.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that the motion is in order.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Barr and Mr. Snyder.

and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16.

Barr,

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this bill, which with practically the same reading as the bill I introduced in the Senate, was introduced by the Representative from Chester, Mr. Long. The bill passed the House by a vote of 172 to 0. In a speech delivered by Mr. Long in favor of his bill, he showed in Philadelphia the most vicious practices that could be known to the theater-going public, in that they could not under any circumstances or conditions get tickets even on the day of the sale. This same bill was introduced by Senator Clark of Indiana in 1921 and through some method or other the bill was sidetracked and it never got a hearing. The Keith Theater, in which the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, is one of the owners in Pittsburgh has its circuit, or any of the other Keith Theaters or any other circuits, you can go in anytime and get a seat, due to the fact that there are no brokers or scalpers. The practice down in Philadelphia and in some of the other smaller cities of the State, is a vicious practice and the theater-going public are the ones that pay the bill. There is a reason behind having this bill held in Committee from February to the present time. Nothing was ever said before about a hearing. I tried two or three times to have the bill reported out but without success, except that the Committee had not agreed, and I am convinced that my bill was not in good faith sent back to the Committee for a hearing. It was sent back to the Committee that it might be pickled and killed and it is due to the fact that there is some sinister influence that is behind this thing that is protecting somebody somewhere, and under some conditions that I do not understand. I have some letters from Philadelphia that I received today in which the charge was loosely made, and I use the word loosely in its proper term, the last time this bill was in the legislature an amount of money equal to $12,000.00 was paid to somebody, either in the House or Senate. I resent that matter. I do not think that anybody could be influenced by money, either in this Senate or in the House, from what I know, but I do think there is some influence that is behind this thing, that is not a money influence, it is a political influence. that continues to pickle this bill and to put these bills to death, and I tell you, gentlemen of the Senate, that is not a square deal to the member from Chester, Mr. Long, who passed his bill in good faith, nor is it a square deal to the Senator from Allegheny speaking, to have this bill taken from the desk, as my bill was taken, without one iota of notice to me that that bill was going back to a Committee. Senatorial courtesy indeed! It does seem to me that it is a theory and not a practice, when it comes down to the other fellow's ox being gored.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I am going to put the Senate on notice that I am going to the Committee on Judiciary Special and am going to ask for a hearing and if there is any reason under God's stars why these two bills ought to be kept in Committee, well and good, if there is not I would like to have the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary Special or some member of the Committee tell the Senate, after the hearing, why the bills are being held.

MOTION TO READ BILL FIRST TIME.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that all bills reported from Committees at today's session be read the first time.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

"Whereas" A lone wolf from the wilds of the western part of our Country has invaded in this Commonwealth, and for sometime has been ravaging, plundering, destroying by violence, and causing great fear and unrest to the people of the County of Philadelphia, entering into private homes as well as many places of business, seizing and carrying away valuable and precious belongings of the people, and,

"Whereas" After many attempts on the part of the outraged and excited people of the County of Philadelphia, to trap or capture this vicious lone wolf, and to show that it was a very undesirable animal in our Commonwealth, by producing facts that it had committed various other vicious offences in other parts of our country, and,

"Whereas" This lone wolf was finally discovered located on one of the Government reservations located at ninth and market sts., in the County of Philadelphia, by one of our formost citizens, a veteran of the worlds war, and a member of this House, the HONORABLE BENJAMIN M. GOLDER. and,

"Whereas" This honored member of this House, displaying the fearless courage of an American, in the times of danger, did single handed without any weapon to protect himself, when a savage attack was about to be made upon his person by the lone wolf, and as it is recorded, our Honorable member, did with a flash drawed off his spectacles, tearing off his coat, and rolling up his sleeves, advanced to where the lone wolf was crouched ready to make the attack, and made a swipe at the lone wolf, which as the lone wolf ducked passed over his head, astonished at the boldness of our fellow member in making this fierce attack on him, without any protection except that which nature gave him, the lone wolf made a feeble attempt to come back, so as to save the reputation of the wolf's family as vicious fighters, but our fellow Representative stood before him like the gladiator of old, fearless, brave, and courageous, when two Government game protectors seized the lone wolf and lead him from the arena to safety, much to the satisfaction, and enjoyment of the outraged people of the County of Philadelphia, who had gathered on the reservation to witness the combat, Be it therefore,

"Resolved" That we the members of the House of Representatives do extend to our fellow member the Hon. Benjamin M. Golder our congratulation on his courage, bravery, and the fearlessness in his attack on such vicious animal as the lone wolf which brought him to humble submission.

"Resolved" That if any other part of this Commonwealth animals like the lone wolf are raving about, whose savage desire is to destroy the peace, happiness, and enjoyment of the people, we recommend to the people our fellow member Honorable Benjamin M. Golder as the champion eradicater of this pest.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution is referred to the Committee on Game.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the friends of our honorable representative from Philadelphia have taken into consideration that perhaps sometime in the future, a group of these lone wolves might meet him in some lonely highway of this great Commonwealth, and since he might be unable to protect himself from the vicious attack that might be made on him, the people of Philadelphia have sent to him this implement of war, to be used any and every time an attack is made.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the first time in my legislative career, I rise with an embarrassment which is real and not feigned. I hardly knew when I awoke last Friday morning, that before sun would set, I should find myself truly famous, but remembering the old adage that a barking dog never bites, I believed also that a howling wolf is without teeth. I appreciate, more than I can say, the good wishes of my friends from Philadelphia, and my only thought is that if there is to be an appropriation of $250,000 for the protection of the public, that at least some ammunition will be supplied to me with the little Irish cannon which has been presented.

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remark of the gentleman upon his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, owing to the very vital public interest in the question of raising revenue, the Ways and Means Committee at the session this evening instructed the Chairman of that committee to present to you the following resolution, which was adopted by that Committee:

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, it is the duty of this Committee to find revenues for meeting the just and proper expenditures of this state, and WHEREAS, thereis known to exist at this time a deficiency in the finances of the state of approximately fifteen million dollars, and,

Whereas, it is therefore necessary to enact emergency tax measures to meet this deficiency, and,

Whereas, it is the sense of this Committee that such emergency tax measures should not impose their burden solely on one class of subjects.

Now therefore be it resolved, that this Committee in evecutive session assembled this seventh day of May does hereby constitute as its program of emergency taxation in whole or part House Bills No. 1041, as amended, and No. 972, as amended.

House Bill No. 1041 is a bill to impose an additional one cent tax upon gasoline, all to be paid into the general fund of the state.

House Bill No. 972 is in process of amendment providing for addition to the levies on present subjects of taxation. A committee was named to prepare amendments, and any statement as to what these would be, would be premature to night

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman upon question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, Mr. Woner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WONER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDER. The chairman of the committee on Ways and Means mentioned as a probable deficit, $15,000,000. I should like to inquire of the gentleman whether this amount includes an additional appropriation, other than that set forth in the so-called budget for hospitals and other institutions requiring public aid.

Mr. WONER . Mr. Speaker, the manner in which the gentleman who proposed this resolution arrived at the figure of $15,000,000 is not known to me. I would not say whether it considered any additional for hospitals or not.

Mr. GOLDER. It might be an opportune moment at this time to express a view which I have and which I am sure is held by many of colleagues here, and that is that in estimating for additional revenue, it is absolutely essential and important that if we are to perform our duties as they should be performed, that the committee in framing these bills have in mind, as has been said before, inasmuch as we desire to take care of school teachers and school programs, that they must first of all consider the raising of additional revenue for hospitals, institutions for the deaf and the dumb and the blind, the feeble-minded and the insane, and all others who are helpless, physically helpless, and depend upon the Commonwealth. I desire to again place myself on record as absolutely opposed to any revenue raisings program that does not consider in full detail and full measure the raising of revenues for hospitals and other institutions such as I have enumerated.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to say that the amendments to this bill are of considerable importance and he especially requests order in the House while they are being read by the Clerk, because there are many members vitally interested in these amendments.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, and members of this House, this is the game code presented to the House early in the session. The members of the Game Committee worked on it in the neighborhood of six or seven weeks, and it passed the House with but one or two dissentinig votes. It went to the Senate and you will see from the amendments read, that it has fifty or more. I have been particularly interested in some of the provisions of this code, and I find the Senate has removed most of the amendments made in the Committee. These amendments, after they were made, I went to the Committee on Game, the chairman in the Senate, and asked him for a public hearing. This he absolutely refused. Previous to that time I had asked the chairman of the Committee on Game, to appear before the Senate committee and explain some of the amendments, and it was refused. These amendments that you have just heard read are positively not fair to the sportsmen of this state, they are ridiculous. They have aimed to eliminate every workman, every ordinary man in the state of Pennsylvania out of the field and have stated that in two years they will eliminate the dog. When the bill was originally presented, it had a section in which it did not permit a man to go out after sundown with his dog on the hill and have a little run. We fought this matter in the Game Committee until I got the permission to train dogs in the evening until ten o'clock. The Senate Committee took it out and made it 8.30, and you can see how much training or pleasure a workman or any other man could have after coming home from his work and taking his dog out on the hill and training him for hunting. It is just as necessary that a dog be trained for hunting as it is for a prize fighter to be in shape in a battle of that kind. I cannot understand the attitude of the Senate Committee, nor can

I understand the attitude of the Game Commission. This bill is not a bill that gives the workmen or the people who supply the money in the State of Pennsylvania to propagate this game a chance in the world. Neither is it a bill for the Game Commission or a sportsman. I think it is very unfair It looks to me as though it has been created entirely for the moneyed people, and I would ask you to vote to non concur in the amendments. I would like to have a conference with the Committee on Game in the Senate.

If it is in order, Mr. Speaker, I would move that the House do non concur in the Senate amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that the question before the House is: Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that this House should not stultify itself by concurring in these amendments. If there is anything on this hill, here, that has been scandulous in recent years, it has been our game legislation. When this resident hunter's license law was first enacted, we were told that this money was to be used largely for the propagation of game in the various counties of the State. Now, down in my county they have taken about fifteen or sixteen thousand dollars out of the county every year and we have scarcely received a drop in the bucket by way of game. The bulk of this money has been eaten up by high salaries or by overhead expenses of this kind. When this bill was before the House there was an amendment in it that provided, as I understand it, that one-third of this money was to be used for the propagation of game, and this game was to be returned to the counties from which the revenue originated. That provision, I understand, has now been stricken out. ;

The complaint in my county is this that we have been legislating year after year, and session after session here to practically drive the working man, the farmer and the common people out of the sportsman's field. We have been collecting this money all over the state, from the poor fellow, and we have been using it, to put it in a nut shell, simply for the benefit of a few organized sportsmen in the state. Now, we all know that many of the counties have practically received nothing out of it, yet year after year, we call upon the common people to produce that dollar and now we increase it, we put it up to $1.25. How long are we going to keep up this thing? Are we going back to the working people, to the farmer, to the common people, and say that we are going to put up this game license fee to $1.25, and then provide no game? How many of these working people have time to go to the counties where these game preserves are?

If we want a hunter's license law, we should at least have a provision that the bulk of this money should go back to the county from which it was collected. I see nothing fair in this law. I think it borders on the scandalous for us to go out year after year collecting this money and then spending it on overhead expenses, in salaries. We all know that many of the appointments made by this Department have not been made as a matter of efficiency. They have been made for political or for some other personal reason, and I do not think it is fair for us to go to work and increase this tax. I think we ought to repeal it, instead of year after year adding to it, and then simply provide sport for a few fellows who can afford it. I agree that we have been doing is all right for a few big fellows who can afford to take off a week or two or three weeks to go to these game preserves and do their hunting, but is it fair to the working man, is it fair to the farmer, is it fair to the small fellow to ask him to provide for this sport. If these fellows want sport, let them pay for it. I say it is not fair to the common people of this Commonwealth to pass bills eyery year raising revenue to provide sport for a very small class of our citizenship.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is one phase of this matter to which I think every member should give consideration. That is the fact that the Game Committee gave this matter serious consideration. This bill was before the Game Committee, as was stated by the gentleman from Allegheny for several weeks. I, as a member of that committee, know something about the deliberations that we gave to it, and as I recall, the Secretary of the Game Commission and the President of the Game Commission, attended practically every one of the sessions, and as that bill left the Committee, it was my understanding that it met with the approval of the Game Commission, and likewise of the secretary of that Commission. Now it seems to me that it comes with ill grace for the commission to go over before the Senate, and before that Committee and have these amendments thus made. I think this House should sustain the action of the Game Committee, which was appointed by the Speaker. It seems to me that we are entitled to some consideration. We gave our time and our deliberations to it, and there were lots of things ironed out. Now, we have this great mass of amendments coming before us. Nobody can give them adequate consideration on the moment and therefore, I think a vote concurring in these amendments is not sustaining the Game Committee of this House. Therefore, it is my feeling that the amendments should be non-concurred in.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, without going into the merits or demerits of this bill, as it comes from the Senate, all that the members of the Game Committee of the House are interested in is simply an opportunity to thrash this thing out. I am absolutely sure this House does not want to pass legislation blindly. It has been said that upwards of 50 amendments have been introduced in the Senate bill. There are three or four amendments on almost every page. Some of these are all right; they are amendments that the House would be glad to accept. There are other amendments which we feel are radically wrong, and all we ask you to do, is to vote to non-concur in the amendments, not that we want to kill the bill, but simply because we want this House to have an opportunity to confer with the Senate and to have a fair and equal chance with the Senate in framing a game bill. Therefore, I ask you gentlemen, simply in a spirit of fairness not to kill the bill, but to vote "no" on the concurrence in these amendments.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would simply like to say that, as the gentleman from Monroe should know, the amendments which were made by the House Game Committee in a great many respects did not meet with the approval of the Game Commission. The bill as originally handed in was the bill of the Game Commission, but the amendments which the House made in it were contrary in many respects to the wishes of the Game Commission. Doubtless many of the amendments made by the Senate are in conformity with the original plans and purpose of the Game Commission rather than the majority of the House Committee.

I think that the proposed amendments which have been made have been set before the members of the House in a manner which they can understand. They have been put in brief form by the Commission, so that every member of the House can get an intelligent idea of what the amendments really mean. My only purpose, Mr. Speaker, is to try to give the members very briefly what these amendments really entail, and if they meet with your pleasure I think we should concur in them; if they do not meet with your favor, then don't vote for concurrence. The first principal amendment which they made in the Senate was to change the provision which required imprisonment in cases of violation of the law. The Senate amended that to make the imprisonment a matter of discretion of the court, and I think that that will meet with the approval of the members of the House, giving the court discretion to impose a fine or imprisonment, or both rather than making imprisonment mandatory. Then, the power of the Game Commission to revoke a license for a period of five years in cases of violation has been changed so that the Game Commission will have power to revoke licenses for not more than two years for the first offense and not more than three years for subsequent offenses. As you all know, the Game Commission originally wanted a license fee of $1.50. The House fixed it at $1.10. The Senate fixed it at $1.25, which is a fifty-fifty compromise, which the Game Commission and many of the sportsmen desire; and in addition to that they have increased the bounties of numerous animals, thereby giving sportsmen a larger return for their work in killing noxious animals. Then the requirement that a person both reside upon and cultivate lands before being entitled to hunt thereon without a license has been put in and is now exactly as it was in the old law, and certainly a great many of the members favor the old law in that respect. The wild turkey season has been changed to give it the full month of November instead of one-half the month, as the House had decided, and I think that that will appeal to the sportsmen in the House, and it is better for the turkeys to have the full month rather than to concentrate the hunting in fifteen days. The Board of Game Commissioners are empowered to close certain counties so that they can close it for a term of years or any part of a general open season. I think that that is a provision which will appeal to the sportsmen. In regard to hunting one half hour before sunrise, this has been changed so that hunting may begin at sunrise, as is the case in the old law, and I think that the sportsmen who hunt and the members of the House found the old law satisfactory in that respect. In regard to the training of dogs, which was the bone of contention in the committee in the House, and which met with objections from the agricultural interests, the Senate Committee has changed the time until nine o'clock at night during the training season to begin August 20th, and end with the month of February. Those changes, Mr. Speaker, were made in conformity with suggestions that were handed in by sportsmen and by the farmers throughout the State, and under the provisions of an amendment added by the Senate, the State Game Commission may sell lands they have purchased to the State Forestry Department and the Federal Government for forest reserves.

Another section added permits the Game Commission to return fines erroneously payed or deposited, and under another section, the present law relative to the liability for costs when not paid by the defendant has been included. And then the Senate took out the amendments which the House inserted which would have required the Game Commission to set aside at least one-third of all the revenue from hunters' licenses for the purchase and distribution of game. Now, there are twelve amendments, they are all plain, and they comprise practically the entire changes made by the Senate committee. If they meet with the approval of the House, then it seems to me that we ought to concur in these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

GIFFORD PINCHOT

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Section 7 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it was recalled from the Governor because by the original terms it was so broad as to include in this registration individuals who did business under a fictitious name, and who were already covered by the act of 1917. If, therefore, the bill had stood as it was originally it would have required several thousand re-registrations which would have been an expense to the Commonwealth and an expense to the individuals doing business. The act has now been narrowed somewhat, but it meets precisely the original purpose. It was presented to prevent any association from taking the name of an old association and thereby trading upon its goodwill. I might say in its present form it is quite as satisfactory to those who originally suggested this legislation as was the original bill and I hope the members of the House can see there way clear to vote or it in this form.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, is there any member in the House who can explain this bill?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, this bill originated from the Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania. It is rather mild and innocent in its provision. It only requires that nurses who are now graduates and those who are licensed attendants so-called, will be required under the act, if this bill passes, to register each year with the registration commission of nurses. A fee of one dollar will be necessary for graduate nurses, and fifty cents for licensed attendants. I see no harm in this bill. The bill in itself was endorsed by the Nurses' Association at their state convention, and if they desire it, I can see no reason why this House should not comply with their wishes.

On the question recurring,

BILL POSTPONED.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 797, entitled:

An Act increasing the number of courts of common pleas in the county of Philadelphia establishing therein a distinct and separate court of common pleas designated court of common pleas number six and providing for the election and appointment of judges for said court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill as to whether or not there is any demand for increasing the number of courts of common pleas in Philadelphia, either from the law association or from the courts themselves.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, there was a motion in the law association for consolidation, in order to get results, but the consolidation fell through. The necessity for consolidation is cured by this bill. No objection has been made by any of the courts, and the real necessity for this bill really comes from the country districts, because we have had, in Philadelphia, as many as five and six country judges at one time, and the usual complaint from the country districts is that their judges are never at home, but that they are down at Philadelphia. Now, Philadelphia certainly should have more judges, and it seems to me that the country districts ought to have the services of their own judges, and we should not be constantly calling in the country judges to come down and help us out.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LUDLOW. Can you give us any notion as to the cost of this court, including the judges' salaries biennium, the court stenographers, the tipstaves and all of the things that go with the creation of a new court in Philadelphia?

Mr. SOWERS. I imagine that the cost would be considerably less than the cost of the Tramp Judges' Act, both in money and the loss of time of the country judges from their districts.

Mr. LUDLOW. Can you not give more exact figures than that generalization?

Mr. SOWERS. I had the exact figures, but unfortunately, I left them on my desk at the office this afternoon and did not bring them with me. It was purely an accident, as I wished to have them to give them to you, because I surmised that you would ask for them.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, it is an ingenious reason for the creation of a number six court, consisting of three additional judges in Philadelphia, to say that we must have it because we cannot consolidate the five we have now. We have five common pleas courts of three judges each, as has been stated by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, or rather can be inferred from his remarks. There has been no demand either from the five courts or from the law association, of which Mr. Sowers and I are both members, for the creation of such a court. There are two facts to be considered. There are three judges at $12,000 a year, or a total of $72,000 to the State of Pennsylvania, without considering the cost of the court stenographers, the tipstaves, the necessity of the extra jurors, and so forth. Now, for the biennium ending on the 31st of this month, the entire appropriation of this State for the judges from one county lending their services to the judges of another county, which is sometimes familiarly known as the Tramp Judges' Act, the appropriation under it, the entire appropriation is about $60,000, which one week ago had only amounted, for actual services and costs under the act to the sum of $54,000. Therefore, if every judge in the State of Pennsylvania had gone to Philadelphia and occupied our bench there, we only would have used out of the appropriation up to a week ago, the sum of $55,000. Now, as a matter of fact, the number of these judges have gone to other counties, a number of them have gone to Pittsburgh and to Delaware and to Montgomery and to other counties which needed a supply judge, and those of you who lived in the counties outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny know that when your judge leaves that jurisdiction to supply elsewhere, they do it only when the local court is not in session. There may be one or two isolated instances such as those mentioned by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, where a judge may have packed up and gone to another county to make the extra compensation and neglected his business at home. I have not heard of any instances I am simply taking that on the law of chance because I do not know of any such cases, but why we should be burdened as a State without any demand from the judges and without any demand from the law association, why we should be burdened with an additional cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, I do not know, and I should like to be further advised by the gentleman from Philadelphia. As the matter stands, I am very much opposed to the creation of such an extra court.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, it is very true that my friend the gentleman from Montgomery County, does belong to the law association of Philadelphia County. I likewise belong to that association. That association did call a meeting on consolidation. It has approximately twelve hundred members. About thirty-eight members attended the meeting. I was up here and I sent one of my assistants to the meeting, and I left word with the meeting that I was opposed to consolidation. It passed by a two-thirds vote out of thirty-eighty members present. Judge Jenkins came up here and stated that it was the opinion of the law association that we ought to have consolidation. Judge Jenkins was told it was the opinion of the law association. I do not know whether my friend from Montgomery County was present at that committee hearing or not. Judge Jenkins stated that to prove it was the opinion of the law association he would send out postal cards and take a vote. He took a vote and he got the return and he has been keeping them ever since, but I happened to have an idea that the return is about seven to one against consolidation. So, when my friend said that the law association went on record for consolidation, but thirty-eight members of that committee who have always been hollering consolidation and advocating consolidation and who have never missed a meeting for consolidation, and no one else ever attends,—these thirty-eight pretend to speak for the whole, approximately two thousand members of the bar of Philadelphia. Now, my friend raises another question. He says the judges are making no demands. You men know that judges keep out of politics, and all things up here are more or less political, and they do not have anything to say. They have not said they are for it, for a number six court, nor have they said they are against it. My friend says, "What necessity exists?" I have never seen my friend in the criminal court in Philadelphia defending anybody. If he would go there occasionally, he would find that men come up for trial three or four or five months after being put into jail, they have been languishing in jail awaiting trial. First, take court number one, criminal court number one, and six months out of the year, while we sit the twelve months continuously, he would find in six months of the year a country judge there. If he will go to the criminal court number two, he will find, in six months of the year a country judge there. And if he will go around to criminal court number three he will find the same thing there. Now, are those judges performing the duties for which they were elected, to hold court for their districts, or are they performing the duties for which they were not elected, to come down to Philadelphia and stay there and live there; and you know you men from the country know they never ignore an invitation. My friend talks about the expense. Suppose you are defending a man charged with a criminal offense in Philadelphia and the case was brought before a judge from the country, and after the trial it was found by after-discovered testimony that the man was innocent and erroneously convicted. Now, I like to travel but I hardly get a chance to travel as far as Montgomery County or Norristown or some other county seat. How much expense does it put the lawyers to to travel all over the State to try and find those judges, who might not even then be serving at their home district, but out in some neighboring district? Isn't that an expense that goes to the public? It certainly goes to the clients. My friend states that the Tramp Judge Act only costs $56,000. I take his word for that, but I have my ideas about that. They get twenty dollars a day and we find they have Bellevue Stratford Hotel bills and other incidental expenses. Maybe my friend only counted the twenty dollars a day, and forgot the extras. You all know what the extras amount to. Now, as to the next proposition, what need is there for a court in Philadelphia? In 1874 the people of Pennsylvania said that there was need for four courts in Philadelphia. In 1900 the people of Pennsylvania said there was need for one more court in Philadelphia. That is twenty-six years. Now, we have approximately twenty-two or twenty-three years more, and the population has increased wonderfully over what it increased from 1874 to 1900, and the business of the courts has increased wonderfully, and there is the need. Now, how would you gentlemen like to wait three years to have a case tried? How would like it if you engaged a lawyer in Philadelphia to sue some merchant to whom you sent a consignment of merchandise and the merchant did not pay you and you decided to sue, and after your case is started, you would have to wait three years to have it tried? The minute you tell a client that in Philadelphia, the client will say, "I will see an undertaker, just forget the case."

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, we have now heard from the legal fraternity with reference to this bill. I think it is not alone the lawyers who are interested in this bill, it goes deeper than that, and I think the public in general and especially in the city of Philadelphia is more interested than the legal fraternity, for this reason: I know that we have got in the city of Philadelphia, in the courts, cases that have been pending for six or seven years. They have been on the trial list four or five times and have not been reached. Now gentlemen suppose you as a litigant had a case in court and suppose you had to wait four or five or six years to get justice. Do you think that is fair? to the taxpayers and to the citizens of Philadelphia? I say no, it is not. The very same objections which the gentleman from Montgomery county raised here tonight were raised here four years ago in this House when a bill was proposed to establish an extra court in Allegheny county. What was the consequence? The bill was passed to establish a new court in Allegheny county, and I am satisfied that Allegheny county today is mighty glad it passed this act. I ask you in all fairness to the citizens of Philadelphia to pass the bill even if it does cost $50,000 because you are doing a justice to the citizens of Philadelphia. We are in need of it. I am not speaking as a lawyer or a politican, I am speaking for the public, and I think the public has some rights here.

We as legislators should respect the rights of the individual citizen, and I ask you in all fairness to vote to pass this bill.

On the question recurring,
